

I wondered if R. A. Johnson could suggest a way of a small fund from authors or poets.

Dear Dr. Pittsford

In writing your wife Saturday I forgot to enclose a copy of the description of the Persian Carpet, or Saraband carpet, altho. I think it's Saraband -

I also spoke of the plan of sending Edwin Edmunds to New York with various things for sale, he has a small car and could note down I think Herbert P. Whitlock you know who wrote that great article of "Jack" in the American Museum of Nat. History, and Roy Chapman Andrews, ^{was} used to know us, might be interested in my one piece of Amethyst, China, not as valuable as interesting. I gave them the only body shield from Iaprica they have which E. J. Han

sent me, he was the Britisher who found Livingstone's grave with Stanley.
~~He~~ ~~also~~ think the specialist in the fabrics Dept. of the Metropolitan might take 3 pieces, two Russian and one Chinese. It seems as if it would save time to get things at once. I am getting so worn out that I can not keep writing. As Edwin has several university friends in N. Y. to stay and knows my niece living in Brooklyn he can care for him self, yet that you do what few things there are.
I have been in bed two days just to rest. I was disappointed at not making a sale. I had been extreme of. I am getting hardened, if I could only leave the house empty.
And then I do dislike to care you care. I hope Miss Tarbell is well.
My affectionate and grateful best.
