New York City

My dear Miss Tarbell:

We are looking forward with very much pleasure to having you with us as the principal speaker at our Commencement Exercises on January 27th. We are listing you on the printed program as follows:

Baccalaureate Address

Ida.M. Tarbell, LL.D.
Journalist and Author

The descriptive title is the one suggested by Professor Chase. If you wish us to change this listing in any respect, or to add the title of your address, we would be very glad to do so.

So that we may provide a comfortable and proper academic garb, will you also let us know your height, dress size, head size and the name of your college.

Guests enter by the 56th Street door of Carnegie Hall shortly after 10 o'clock and assemble for the academic procession. Should you desire any tickets for other guests, we will be very happy to send them to you.

I trust we are not bothering you too much with these details.

Sincerely yours,

Hannah M. Egan
