SUNMIT AVENUE
HACKENSACK, N.J.

June 19, 1916.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,

La Portage, Akron, O.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

I was ashamed when I wrote my letter to you, because I know what a nuisance people are who write and ask other people to speak. But now I am very glad that I overcame my shame and wrote. It is very kind of you to say that you will come to Hackensack and speak to us in January. Please set the date to suit your own convenience, letting us know some time in the Fall, perhaps in October, if possible.

And may Mrs. Lincoln and I hope to have the pleasure of looking out for you while you are in Hackensack. Won't you come out and dine with us, and spend the night? It is ever so much easier than rushing back to New York immediately.

With regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

Joseph C. Lincoln
