Mr. H. C. Dollison,
Keystone View Company,
Meadville, Pa.

My dear Mr. Dollison:

I did not receive your letter of June 30 and the package which accompanied it, until last Saturday when I reached my farm in Connecticut.

As I was there only over Sunday, I had time only to open the package. That was enough, however, to show me that its contents were very interesting, and I am looking forward with pleasure to examining both the literature which you sent and the views. They ought to give me, I should say, plenty of material to make up my mind as to their educational value. Off hand, it seems to me that there can be no question that, wisely used, the views are a most useful tool--the kind of thing which I feel sure I should be glad to have if I were a teacher.

As I told you at our interview in Meadville, I am very much occupied and shall be for some time. All I can do is to give the odd moments of my week-end in the country to looking over the material. If in the fall you will take the matter up with me, telling me more definitely what you have in mind, I will see what I can do.

Very sincerely yours,
