November 12, 1936.

Miss Ida Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

I just want to let you know how delighted we all are with the script you sent - and how very much we appreciate the way you rushed it to us.

Do you have a photograph of yourself that we could send out in our advance publicity? Perhaps your publisher could send one to us. We would prefer an informal snapshot to a formal photograph, if you happen to have anything of that sort.

We shall all look forward to meeting you on the 27th.

Cordially,

Dorothy Worthington

Dear Miss W -

Miss T. wishes me to say that at present she has no informal picture of herself.

The Cosmopolitan Magazine used an informal picture along with an article by Miss T. in the ¹⁹³⁶ November Cosmopolitan just out. If you care for ~~that one~~ ^{this photograph} she does not object to your using it, but of course you will have to obtain permission from the Cosmopolitan. Miss T. does not have an ^{extra} copy of this one. ~~at her death.~~ Miss T. is sorry that she does not have an extra copy of the above mentioned picture to send you.
