MISS IDA M. TARBEll,
120 East 19 Street,
New York, New York.

Dear Miss Tarbell,

Miss Tousley tells me that you are going to write a magazine article on a subject which we all have felt needs further exploring at this time, namely, what the trained social worker can do at the helm of unemployment relief that the untrained layman cannot.

I shall look forward with interest to reading it, for I know that whatever comes from your pen will be something of real value both in style and content.

Sincerely yours,
