Dear Mr. Landon:

How nice of you to send me your announcement. It gives me a certain homesickness to think of anybody "on the sandust trail." My little experience aroused a vagabond sense in me which even the hardships of one night stands were not able to quench. But I am out of all that now. When you are seventy six it is just as well to stay near your fire, at least not to expose yourself to the fantastic experiences that traveling on a circuit or with a Lyceum Bureau is sure to bring.

I hope you will have a successful season. Please remember me warmly to all the family.

Faithfully yours

Mr. S. W. Landon
