Miss Ida Tarbell,

New York, N. Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

We wrote you some time ago regarding a possible article for the forthcoming LEADERSHIP MAGAZINE.

We assume that you are too busy to create something special for us or we would have heard from you. We realize and understand how time presses in on one who is in such great demand.

Perhaps our mutual friend, Jessie Tarbox Beals, mentioned to you that we are running her story and some of her camera studies in the Arts and Letters Department of the FOUNDATION NUMBER of LEADERSHIP.

We would be very much interested in having a story about the Pen and Brush Club written by you in any way you choose to handle it. Simply the story of the Club, its personnel, activities, and a little of its history in about two thousand words. Could you compose such an article for us? We should be so grateful to you if you could find the time and, of course, primarily if the Club cares for such publicity.

With every good wish,

Most sincerely,

Rachel Mack Wilson
