

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
WOMEN'S BUREAU
WASHINGTON

June 27, 1927.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

Thank you so much for sending this very nice article to me. You are altogether too generous to me personally, and I am so pleased at the way you have brought in the work of the Bureau. I love the phrase that we are "enemies of buried information."

On page 25 we have written into the margin - after checking the figures - the changes. On page 26 we have also written into the margin the largest group of women which are employed - given in that part of the article which refers to railroads and electric roads - I do not know whether you want to use this or not.

I think the article is splendid, and would very much like to know where it is to be published.

With kindest regards,

Affectionately yours,

Mary Anderson
