Dear Miss Tarbell;

here is a letter which I have received from my Publishers. It is not very helpful! But I can see their point, that to mention a concrete case, such as I did to you, might make the denomination or the bookseller still more antagonistic.

I am keeping in mind that toward the end of November I may have you here. My visit with you the other day was most enjoyable, and I hope the genealogies will let us claim each other as fourth or tenth cousins.

Cordially yours,

Martha Tarbell.
