Dear Mr. Tarbell:

My daughters in law tells me of her recent conversation over the telephone, in which you said that you could not undertake anymore work. Don't you give me the pleasure of coming to see me as long as I am allowed to leave my room,
I would so like to give you a few of the interesting facts in my life, as I know you have many in your own, which may interest you. Will you ask a time that’s open for convenience? Kindly let me know in advance when I may expect the pleasant visit. Your very seasonable cordial return of the enclosures.
