Dear Mrs. Aldrich:

I have been out of town for some time and returning find your note of May 27th telling me of the meeting tomorrow - Friday afternoon - at the New York Headquarters. I wish that I could be there but I have already made an engagement which I cannot break.

The Pen & Brush Club has as possibly you know arranged to be at home every Tuesday afternoon for visiting artists and writers who might like to drop in. There will always be members there and a cup of tea. But I do not myself very well see how we are to reach the occasional woman who might like to drop in on us.

I suppose that our invitation is posted at the proper places. Is there anything more we can do? We would like to co-operate in any way that seems practical to the committee.

Regretting that I cannot be with you tomorrow, believe me

Very sincerely yours
