New York, March 28, 1939.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell
120 East 19th Street
New York City

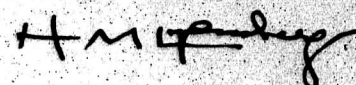

My dear Miss Tarbell:

May I ask if in case you have no better use for the typescript of "All in the day's work" you would be willing to deposit it in the manuscript room of the New York Public Library?

For some time now we have been gathering typescripts of recent books, doing this as a contribution to the history of current American literature. There is no need to wait for time to give documents of this kind the glamour of age. Literary history is being made today quite as certainly as it was a generation or a century ago.

If you care to let us have the printer's copy for your book, we shall be happy.

Truly yours,

H. M. Lydenberg,
Director
