Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
Hotel Leland,
Springfield, Ill.

Dear Miss Tarbell:-

I am a little tardy in answering your letter and sending the pictures I promised. However, I am sending them in this letter and hope they will prove as interesting to you as they are to me.

In the near future I shall make a trip to Long Run and make some more pictures according to the latest findings. When I do, I will send you a set.

I have not been to Shelbyville yet, but have written my uncle, who lives there, to run the title to that land for me. I am quite convinced that the land first belonged to Morgan Hughes.

When I consulted my notes after our trip to Long Run, I found I had made a mistake in handing out my information. The Major Crawford, who was mentioned so much, bought the land from one Applegate, and it was Applegate who married the daughter of Morgan Hughes.

Your suggestion to excavate those graves, I think, is very timely, and, according to my opinion, the Filson Club should look into these things at once. I will submit your suggestion to the Filson Club at its next meeting, November 6.

My father and I are planning to spend the entire day at Long Run next Sunday, if the weather is good. We will take a spade along and lift some of those old grave stones to see if there are any inscriptions on them. Mr. Procter will be with us.

Rest assured that I will advise you of every important development. However, I work rather slowly, because my time is rather limited, and by the time I finish you will perhaps have no use for everything that may yet be unearthed.

I notice that in making these pictures, the printer was not very careful. There is a blurr on almost every one, which was not on the film. If you have occasion to need any additional prints, or clearer ones, I will be glad to have them made for you.

With kindest regards,

Yours very truly,

Thos. B. Fisher
