

The Historical Society of Berks County, Pa.

Office, Library and Museum in the Society's Building
38 North Fourth Street, Reading, Pa.

Reading, Pa., September 9 1922

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th St.,
New York City.

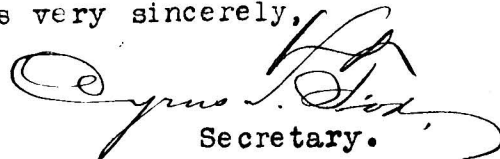

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Your letter of the 1st. inst. was not received by me until this morning. I am sending you herewith, a photograph of the Mordecai Lincoln House, in Exeter township, Berks county. I suppose it can be enlarged, but it will be hardly fit for your purposes.

In regard to the article on the Coventry Forges in which Mordecai Lincoln had an interest with William Branson, I have not yet been able to turn to the paper in which the same was contained. I may be able to get hold of it next week, but not until after the 12th. inst., as I shall be very busy for the next few days.

I got through last evening with the eighteenth pilgrimage of this society, which was a great success. I would have been glad to have had you with us. This has kept me very much engaged for the last few weeks in making all the arrangements. An address which I delivered during the trip will be published in the Reading Eagle of tomorrow (Sunday), as also one which I delivered a week previous in southern Berks county, in which I referred to the Mordecai Lincoln iron operations. I will mail you a copy of this paper on Monday.

Yours very sincerely,

Secretary.