Copy of Lincoln autograph letter.

Springfield, Oct. 18, 1858.

Hun. J. N. Brown,

My dear Sir,

I do not perceive how I can explainly that I have done in the foregoing extracts. have expressly disclaimed all intention to bring abo tical equality between the white and black races, an I have done the same thing by clear implication. I ly plain that I think the negro is included in the the Declaration of Independence. I believe the decl men are created equal is the great fundamental pr our free institution rest; that negro slavery is vi principle; but that, by our form of government, that seen made one of legal obligation; that by our form states which have slavery are to retain it, or sur pleasure; and that all others—individuals, free al government— are constitutionally bound to leave (framed?)

believe our government was thus formed because springing from the actual presence of slavery, when That such necessity does not exist in the territorie not present. In his Mendehall speech Mr. Clay says strict principle, there is no doubt of the truth (all men created equal) and it is desirable, in sition of society, and in organized societies, a great fundamental principle." Again, in the says, "If a state of nature existed, and we dations of society, no man would be more stron to incorporate the institution of slavery amon press myself more

In four of them I
Copy of Lincoln autograph letter.

Springfield, Oct. 18, 1858

Hon. J. N. Brown,

My dear Sir,

I do not perceive how I can express myself more plainly than I have done in the foregoing extracts. In four of them I have expressly disclaimed all intention to bring about social and political equality between the white and black races, and in all the rest I have done the same thing by clear implication. I have made it equally plain that I think the negro is included in the word "men" used in the Declaration of Independence. I believe the declaration that "all men are created equal" is the great fundamental principle upon which our free institutions rest; that negro slavery is violative of that principle; but that, by our form of government, that principle has not been made one of legal obligation; that by our form of government, states which have slavery are to retain it or surrender it at their own pleasure; and that all others—individuals, free states and all government—are constitutionally bound to leave them alone.

I believe our government was thus formed because of the springing from the actual presence of slavery, when it not present. In his Mendenhall speech Mr. Clay says strict principle, there is no doubt of the truth (all men created equal) and it is desirable, in tion of society, and in organized societies, a great fundamental principle." Ag in, in the says, "If a state of nature existed, and we with dations of society, no man would be more str to incorporate the institution of slavery amon