Dear Mr. Barrett:

I haven't thanked you, and I apologize for the delay, for your generosity in sending me this beautiful copy of Carl Sandburg's Mary Lincoln. I, of course, treasure his inscription - so fine an inscription, too. It pleases me enormously. But that does not mean that you are not to receive the credit due you in this book. I am having your letter put with the book so that your good deeds will have recognition in my modest little collection.

Isn't it fine that Governor Horner has won. I hope it means that his good fortune will follow him through the election. He is a fine person.

Faithfully yours

Mr. Oliver L. Barrett
