Office of the Librarian
C. [unclear]

Dear Madam:

We should be glad to comply with the request in your letter of March 27 for a copy of the "latest list of Lincolniana" but the Library of Congress has issued no list since the one published in 1906 with which you are no doubt familiar.

There is noted in each of the Librarian's Annual Reports important accessions made in the course of the particular year which would also include mention of any Lincolniana items.

We shall be very glad to send you a reprint of the Manuscripts Division's Report (for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938) as soon as copies are received from the printer.

Very truly yours,

Archie G. Catton
Secretary of the Library
