

HARPER & BROTHERS
PUBLISHERS
NEW YORK & LONDON

FRANKLIN SQUARE, NEW YORK, N.Y.

June 29, 1921.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

Thank you for writing in the understanding spirit of your letter of June 28th. Since my last letter to you, we have heard nothing further from Mr. Peck or Mrs. Miller. I forwarded Mr. Peck the paragraph in your letter concerning the value which publication would give to Senator Browning's Diary, thus backing up with your heavy artillery the attack I had already made along general lines.

I should think that by the end of July we would certainly have heard definitely about the matter. Mr. Peck is doing his best, I believe, to make Mrs. Miller see the wisdom of our plan and I am counting a good deal on him.

Very truly yours,

William H. Briggs

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th Street,
New York City.

William H. Briggs...H