Custodian of the Lincoln Farm,
Hodgenville, Ky.

My dear Sir:

Will you be good enough to let me know what literature and photographs of the Memorial Farm you have on sale and for free distribution. I want to get copies of everything that you distribute. If you will kindly let me know the cost, I will at once send you a check.

There are a few questions which I should like answered, if they are not answered in the literature which you send me.

What is the exact size of the cabin? I think I have this in my notes somewhere, but cannot put my hands upon it.

Also, what are the dimensions of the fireplace?

What is the width of the logs? And what is their average size? They were, of course, hewn by hand. Have you in your collection the tool which was used at the time the cabin was built for hewing logs? How were the logs put together? Were any pegs used in fastening them?

How many acres of land have you in connection with the Memorial? And what was the size of the original farm, according to your records? My notes give it as 100 acres, is this correct?

I shall appreciate it highly if you will give me as early a reply as convenient to these questions.

Very truly yours,
