1936-12-23

Rankin, Henry William

http://hdl.handle.net/10456/29335

This item is in the public domain.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.
East Northfield, Oct. 28, 1936

My dear Mr. Tarbell,

Your very kind letter, and the two books of Lincolns Chiar are both in hand, and I am grateful to receive them. The book is delightful, I have no doubt that it conveys a true likeness of the man, I am glad you wrote it. I see the announcement of a new book from you, I hope that it will be widely read, as all of your books deserve. If my health permits I would wish to read every one of them.
As a frequent visitor to the Bakewell family's house, I had the opportunity to meet Mrs. Bakewell, the mother of...