My dear Miss Tarbell:

When I returned to the University I checked over our McClure's magazines in the library and discovered that we had more of them than I had thought, so we would not be interested in securing them for our own collection. However, now that you have called this to my attention, I know one or two people who might like to know where these could be secured.

I am glad if you liked my "Lincoln, L.L.D." I am hoping that we can arrange to have you here with us for a couple of weeks next fall. I have some plans about that which I will take up with you about the first of September.

With best wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
