

W.S.Wood.

W.S.Wood of New York City, who managed Lincoln's journey from Springfield to Washington in 1861, was father of Leonard Wood, now (August, 1898) Brigadier General of Volunteers, commanding the city of Santiago de Cuba.--J. McCan Davis.

Henry Villard.

So far as I know, Henry Villard is the ^{only} ~~only~~ man now living who was a newspaper correspondent with Lincoln on the journey to Washington. He represented the New York "Herald".
--J. McCan Davis. Aug. 5, 1898.
