Mr. Paul R. Reynolds,
599 Fifth Ave.
New York City.

Dear Mr. Reynolds:

This Manuscript which I am sending, "In Mr. Lincoln's Town" is the last probably of a little series that I have done in the last twenty years. The first was published in the American Magazine about 1907. Was put into book form and is still selling. Two others have appeared in separate books and have done very well. I am sending you a book in which they have all been collected in order that you may see where this one comes in.

Please show the Manuscript to Mr. Blossom first. I promised to do a Lincoln Article for his February number, if we could hit on anything that pleased him. He may prefer this story. Naturally I should like to have it in the American, all but one of the other four having been printed there.

Be good enough to let me know what price you are putting on it before speaking to Mr. Blossom.

Very sincerely yours,

+ H. H. L.
