Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East Nineteenth Street,
New York, New York.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

We have your letter of October 23 and quite appreciate the fact that you would be unable to lay aside your other work and devote your time to a critical consideration of the galleys of Ludwig's "Lincoln." I thought, however, that you might be able to take the time to read the proofs hastily and point out to us any serious errors which have escaped us. More particularly I wanted the paragraph from you which we could quote, as I am sure that you appreciate Ludwig's point of view in drawing his portrait of Lincoln.

You are certainly entitled to compensations for the service you have rendered Dr. Ludwig and hope he will recognize his obligations to you. For this particular service to us we shall make a prompt remittance.

Sincerely yours,

Herbert F. Jenkins
