Gentlemen:

I am in possession of some interesting autographic letters written by Abraham Lincoln, which were addressed to the Hon. Abram Wakeman while he was postmaster of the City of New York. These letters and other data in my possession would I am sure furnish an excellent framework for an article in one of our monthly magazines. I am prepared to furnish the crude material, or to supply one or more finished articles concerning President Lincoln, with or without illustration.

Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience concerning the matter, I am,

Very truly yours,

Hyacinthe Ringrose.
