Dear Miss Tarbell

I have had a number of Mrs Lincoln's letters, purchased from the Grimsley family, but all have been sold. One 8 page letter of unusual interest I had printed about ten years ago, and still have a few copies. I did not take out copyright papers on it, and I do not know of its ever having been printed in any other form than this.

If there is any way in which you can bring my name before the public in connection with former ownership or as publisher of it, I will be more than compensated.

With regards

H E Barker
