

I find among my original notes for "He Knew Lincoln" this story of the circumstances around the receiving of the notice of Lincoln's death. I don't find the name of the person who told it to me; that it is practically as it was told to me - possibly dressed up a bit in setting it down - I am sure. I think it was John Roll who told me, but I am not sure.