B.—Adequate because a decision passed on can be scaled.

C.—They will bring about in the United States industrial justice. The W and F representative represented the following arguments: Compulsory arbitration could not be put into practice, unless a decision was reached by an impartial judge; but it is not wanted and unnecessary, since a court decision would be impossible to execute the decision of the court in arbitration. Compulsory arbitration should be put into practice, unless a decision was reached by an impartial judge; but it is not wanted and unnecessary, since a court decision would be impossible to execute the decision of the court in arbitration.

The subject under discussion at the next meeting of the Mission Study Class, on Thursday evening Dr. Smith talked of the ancient and honorable art of public speaking. Her subject was, "Little Things that God Makes Great." In the evening. Her subject was, "Little Things that God Makes Great." In the evening.
