In One of the Greatest Debates Ever Had at Allegheny.

The debate between Allegheny and Washington and Jefferson College was held on April 26th, 1905. President Crawford was the moderator. Hon. Jerome B. Fisher, of Allegheny, and Rev. W. B. Haynes, of Grove City, Pa., and Prof. W. E. Hadley, of Sharon, Pa., served as judges. A large and responsive audience was in attendance.

The question debated was: "Assuming the adoption of adequate measures, that courts should be established in the United States for the compulsory arbitration of disputes between employees and employers." The affirmative was represented by Messrs. L. W. Swanson, M. R. Groves, of Kane, Pa., and W. L. Small, of Buffalo. There was a difference of 4 votes between the two teams. The judges rendered the decision that the affirmative was decisively carried, and that the decision was consistently and thoughtfully rendered.

The delivery of the affirmative was accentuated by the clearness and correctness of the language used and the thorough knowledge of the various phases of the subject and each speaker was distinguished by a careful and laborious work of Messrs. Morrison, Hamilton, and the officers of the Historical Association. They were keen thinkers in their efforts, working hard and long and scoring much. The occasion is rare when one can see three judges give such appreciation to the debaters themselves, but we are inclined to think that this debate may not have been more distinguished than that.

The debate will now be in the hands of the Board of Trustees of Allegheny College, held in the hall of the Union, and will be followed by the new Preparatory School Building.

The meeting of the Board of Trustees was also held in the hall of the Union, and the following contractors submitted bids: Henry Shenk & Company, of Erie; J. H. Allen & Mealas, of Oil City, Pa.; and W. E. Morrison & Son, of Allegheny. The following contractors submitted bids: Henry Shenk & Company, of Erie; J. H. Allen & Mealas, of Oil City, Pa.; and W. E. The question debated involves a set of useful precedents. All faculties as we recognize in our effort, and that our failure or inadequacy of the judges may not have been more distinguished than the deliverers of the affirmative. The editor is the fighting against divisiveness among peoples, a fact that God may make great either for good or ill. The United States; and, finally, compulsory arbitration courts is the only logical method.

The subject under discussion at Thursday evening is the adoption of some such plan as is here following. A.—Legal compulsion is the only method, introducing paternalism, and the arguments which will linger in our institution.

Dr. Frank Lockwood, (Continued from page one.)

The W. and J. representatives presented the following arguments: A.—Practicable, because the appeal of one party to a compulsory arbitration court would not be unnecessary. B.—Adequate because a decision of the arbitrators would not be final. C.—They will bring about a change in the United States judicial systems.

Mitinger Again Pitching Ball, Visits Twice in the Ninth From His Delivery—Almost Last Through Kenmore.

As the sun set on Wednesday afternoon the storms from Washington & Jefferson College for the afternoon program at the conclusion of the game, which was expected to be quickly dispelled. However, the storm was not over yet, and the rain continued to pour into the stadium, making it difficult for Mitinger to pitch his best game.

However, the storm continued to pour into the stadium, making it difficult for Mitinger to pitch his best game. Despite the weather conditions, Mitinger pitched well and managed to keep Allegheny in the game. The game continued for several innings, with both teams struggling to get on base and score runs.

Finally, in the ninth inning, Allegheny was able to get one run across to take the lead, 3-1. Mitinger pitched a complete game, allowing the visitors to score four runs, but also making seven strikeouts. The game ended with Allegheny winning, 3-1, and Mitinger pitching a complete game. This was a great victory for Allegheny, as they were able to come back and win the game despite the unfavorable weather conditions.
