Dear Carolyn Wells:

What a dear you are to have answered me so quickly - so fully - and so gaily. It is jolly what you tell me about T. R. Since you say I may keep the ~~book~~ for a little time I shall take you at your word, not being quite sure how I want to work it into a piece I have on hand.

It is so good of you to suggest that I may go and see you. Let me come at once. If I put off visits I never make them. How about next Tuesday afternoon around four thirty?

And if that is not convenient and you are staying on into July I could go in one day between the tenth and the twentieth when I shall be back in town.

I am off at the end of next week.

I shall look forward to seeing you.

Cordially
