Mrs. Louie Dean White
230 Warren St.
Brookline, Mass.

Dear Mrs. White:

How good of you to write me so fully!

I was amazed at the Barton article. It seemed to me going far even for him, but I wanted to be certain that there had been no supporting findings to which my attention had not been called.

I feel guilty when I look at the full answer you have given me with those precious references. If Dr. Barton goes on he will cloud the really valuable work he has done. What a mistake it is to jump to conclusion. Witness the Atlantic Lincoln letters!

I do hope you are keeping well, dear Mrs. White, that Mr. White will soon be better and that you will be able to see Mrs. Rudolph this spring. I am sure it would be a fine experience for both of you.

I shall treasure this letter of yours, but I shall hardly dare ask you a question again if you are going to take so much trouble in answering me.

Looking forward to the pleasure of seeing you again some day, believe me

Sincerely yours
