ADDRESS CORRESPONDENCE TO INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

December 22, 1920

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
c/o Industrial Management,
120 West 32nd Street,
New York City.

Dear Miss Tarbell:

I thank you very much for the two Lincoln booklets which every member of our family has read with a great deal of interest.

I was very much interested in getting the reaction of the various members of the group. Mrs. Kellog, my mother-in-law, rather impatiently waited for Bobby to finish "He Knew Lincoln" after she had finished "Father Abraham", and on the other hand, Bobby was very much disappointed to discover that in the meantime Jean had started "Father Abraham" and this delayed his own reading of it.

When we read your writings of Lincoln they leave a feeling of intimate association. I think it is indeed a rare gift you possess to establish Lincoln so familiarly in our consciousness. To me, Lincoln's character and nobility are so real as a result of your writings that I feel almost as if he had been a personal friend.

Please accept my very sincere appreciation of your thoughtfulness in sending the booklets. I know you will be interested to learn that Bobby has already asked permission to loan them to two of his boy friends.

With kindest personal regards and the season's greetings, I am

Very sincerely yours,

A. H. Young
Manager, Industrial Relations.
