My dear Mr. Snyder:

Last week in Cincinnati I saw in the office of Dr. Stricker, the head of the N. E. Home for the Aged, a colored lithograph of Heckman's portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

The reproduction interested me and I asked Dr. Stricker where I could get a copy. He told me that the painting was in the Art Museum of Dayton and that you had been instrumental in securing it for the city and as I understood him had had the reproductions made and that he thought you could tell me where I could get one.

I shall appreciate it, my dear Mr. Snyder, if you will give me this information. Also if you will let me have the history of the portrait as I suppose it must have been worked out before you purchased the picture. Any information concerning it I shall be glad to have.

Thanking you in advance for your good offices in the matter, believe me,

Very truly yours,

(Miss) Ida M. Tarbell
