

1930-04-20

Letter: Frank R. Sauliere to Ida M. Tarbell, April 20, 1930

Sauliere, Frank R.

<http://hdl.handle.net/10456/33107>

The copyright owner of this item is unknown. It is the responsibility of the researcher to identify and satisfy the holders of all copyrights.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.

HARVARD LAW SCHOOL
CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

April 20, 1930

Miss Ida M. Tarbell
Famous Biographer of Lincoln.
% Collier's National Weekly

Dear Miss Tarbell:

Hope you will pardon my audacity in addressing myself to such an éminent person as yourself, but since you are one of the best biographers of my ideal I hope you will pardon me.

Could you tell me at what age Lincoln lost his mother? If I recall correctly, he was about 11. Reason I inquire is that I have often wondered to whom he referred when he said that he owed all that he was to his mother. I didn't know whether he had been old enough to have appreciated his own mother in order to be referring to her. I suppose it was his step-mother he was speaking of.

Hoping again that you will not think me too forward and audacious, I am

Very respectfully yours,

Frank R. Sauliere

Harvard Law School
Cambridge, Mass.