Dear Mr. Seaberg:

I am much interested in your letter of May 24 telling me of your interest in the life of Abraham Lincoln. You have gone about your studies in what seems to me a most intelligent fashion. I am particularly glad to hear you are interested in Lincoln Pilgrimage. The report which you say you have made I shall be glad to read. And when you cover the New England end of the Pilgrimage I shall be glad if you will call on me as you suggest. Unfortunately, my Lincoln material is most of it packed away so that I shall have little to show you, but we can talk things over and I possibly might make some suggestions of what did seem to me to be particularly worthwhile. You say you have read my "In The Footsteps Of Lincoln." You will see what I thought best to emphasize but you'll be sure with your interest to find other things. I should advise you by all means to see the collection at Brown University at Providence, R. I. sometime. I have never done so myself I regret to say.

If you need directions about how to find me let me know what your route is to be and my Secretary will make out the most practical detour for you. I am sorry that I shall not be able to give you very much time. I have been ill for some time and my visiting hours are short, but we can have a little talk at any rate and I shall be glad to see you.

Very sincerely yours,

Ida M. Tarbell
