

HORACE D. TAFT
WATERTOWN, CONNECTICUT

Feb. 20th, 1927.

My dear Miss Tarbell.

Wasn't you good to send me that very interesting book about the reporter? I read it with keenest interest and pleasure and some day shall want to ask you some questions about the man and his story. Thank you very much.

I was especially struck by that explanation of the bungling of the Petersburg mine affair. It was different from any I had ever heard.

Our friend, Henry Thomson, has gone. A good man and true if ever there was one. We Yale men miss him.

One of these days I hope I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again.
If you find yourself in this neighborhood, you must not pass me by.

Very sincerely yours
Horace D. Taft
