1. If Lincoln had been born on a plantation in a southern state, say South Carolina, and had lived there until his majority, do you think he would have had such an attitude toward slavery as he did and would his career and life have been anything similar to what it actually was?

2. If Lincoln were alive and President today what do you feel would be his attitude toward Soviet Russia?

3. How would you classify Lincoln's religious faith?

4. If Lincoln were living today and instead of Mr. Hughes were to be appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court would he be classified with the so-called conservative or progressive division of that great body?

5. Has the character of Lincoln been too greatly idealized by the American people to longer serve as a model for young Americans?
