Manuscript: The Wit and Humor of Abraham Lincoln

Tarbell, Ida M.

http://hdl.handle.net/10456/33782

©Allegheny College. All rights reserved.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.
Please be reminded of the policies and regulations of the school. The following guidelines are in place:

1. Attendance: Students are expected to be punctual and regular in attendance. Absences must be reported to the administration in advance.
2. Behavior: All students are expected to follow the school's code of conduct, which includes respectful behavior towards peers and staff.
3. Dress Code: The school has a uniform dress code, which includes specific requirements for clothing items and accessories.
4. Homework: Regular completion of homework is essential for academic success. Late assignments will be penalized.
5. Extracurricular Activities: Participation in extracurricular activities is encouraged, but students must maintain a balance between academic and extracurricular obligations.

Failure to adhere to these guidelines may result in disciplinary actions.

Please note that this document is a reminder of the school's policies and should be reviewed by all students and parents.
it was first in the calla. i after the introductory a callus appealed. the present a purely-seeming in the phren. as the callus. if Burrum. the army. if a

in. Burrum. the army. if a Conservative. if a

Phnom Penh. if a

Phnom Penh. if a

Phnom Penh. if a

Phnom Penh. if a

Phnom Penh. if a
The text in this image is not legible and cannot be accurately transcribed.
The managers prevented you remaining a friend with this -federal capture of Rutherford & his nomination as an opposing candidate.

Me said me L. speak my mind about realитесь man felt afraid that he didn't want to die particularly but if the lead got to die, still my friend your death would be like a see 10-3

He was nominated but it did not produce the result of John Campbell suicide script-tion came as i critically interpreted the final effect why we said it. The process released a widespread riot and we were certain cause, still. We knew the where the opinion issued at 2.4 selected people killed would endanger the grain came.

but well. if they turn structure it will be -- they didn’t act in our order

see 18 A.4
from henceon. He war not a ruler.

Hi-day as many of Seve did li.

When knew Metil the attacked hi high of woman we he.

"Who are you to interfere with the appearance of the king?"

"Master, a subject. Born with the same"

my citizen teach a upright duty to father - I, a peed - red - in - and duty war to prevent their and justice from condemning the cause of injustice and legally say - we com - milled."

1. Classes - county

(a) The curmew - Robert Mckin - we duty 1820.201.

(2) The steel military - - duty question the right "under the law".

The seers—usually women—were often kept hidden. They were kept out of sight.

4. The office dealing with dealing

5. Army class. How the defender expressed in heated Salvini...
This note always the legible - the dict. condeelude to deal with it - The law was ample - if the law was by you code up could later close but from the continued the closer sheeld - the cind areulude I did that night. the later close pun middleing during bnd the military attack heard - what did it D. Neil be summarily a parole
Is in other instances already Farewell all she had started publication trains of col/en then portage of buying oil col/en but can copy (as above) not a title of the city in presence upon him

Mr. stoudt came from the state house primally un cepted in asking their mind of me but adding to me not merely saving them but adding to their capacity of the county pretty soundly kept part of themselves.

These gentlemen said

'saying indirectly introductory story Lee had left with their prescribed office

'These gentlemen

Jun 18. 126

While present came from interest offire

Lee Lee Lee we want to deris - deep and yield impossible for deris - a powerful burner. My friend Lee said to the gentlemen who stood came with an endorsement while I said in turn was insufficient for anybody. I also buggled that a me lodger's service for a friend see slauch's spanish.

Carl Schurz gives a lively picture of the influx of would-be officers, particularly of foreigners, many of whom naturally sought Schurz' influence. They came with impressive letters of introduction, with claims - sometimes genuine, sometimes not - of military training and experience, and they came depending upon recommendations which, while they might count in the old world they were not slow in learning were not worth the paper on which they were written in the new. One such that Schurz tells of was a general who was depending upon a row of ancestors several hundred years long. Finally he had an audience with the President and immediately he presented his family tree. Mr. Lincoln listened to him gravely. "That need not trouble you," he said, "they will not be in your way if you behave yourself as a soldier." "The poor young count looked puzzled," says Mr. Schurz, "and when the audience was over he asked me what the President could have meant by so strange a remark."
The exact details of the event...
23-1

Mr. Lastly Mr. M. P. had a conversation with a company with whom he was served. It was revealed in a matter with the firm. He is the Army of the Sudan.

Mr. said he, especially recently it is said Mr. M. C. is very friendly.

Ludwig - P 25-8

He was the clearest character to know
"Mr. M. C. is an admirable engineer but he seems to have a special love for stationary engineering."

Oct. 16th 1864
It was then a fight for once 2000 between my ancestors and they had begun with their cattle on our farm. They slopped their cattle each end sprit turning into the equal of the State.

[Signature]
[Initials]
John almost punctual

until the initial sound was sheer astonishment in equal parts

I'm sure I felt, explained that whole volume, and indeed, the one after the first, why are snails so slow?

mellor.
He unmasked his face - telling him never really. He reminiscent of the poet, of the parakeets, briers, stumps. The man in the hood - that he had conduced and - the rail.

And the surgeons he joined the real - assemblé.
That he was someone to - hear. He gushed the parakeet cleverer attention it - itself.
And I'm putting back to - in ten.
nille - ile Calderone day - smoking Came she explained. Here a central - tinsian.
"Tell in the manner of turtle at me Austin" he called "And all the - the adventure" - still not quite self conscious.

And gave to the Clapham Grand - when the green - chipped "Tell me who came it -" caughed "Tell the -"
His feet were enormous. He dulled altitude from the feet when he wore the tail of the big horn.
Perhaps no man in history—no one Rabelais—Voltaire—Swift—not our own Mt. Dorey. Where detached from the field car heat and the headache of an day, now exist. Deprived in a reasoned humor

All steal laughter due for men. It did for him persimmon. All laughter intem the organ—oxygen—heart—health—air create—call if it is the rest of physical intimate near digito. A derthe sleep the well in for taking

And from the mind it the spirit in coel will equal liberating—equally vaned in its coelium in the mind, the spirit.

Real tenorness which keeps the mind, circular like a merry-go-round on the [Incoherent text not transcribed]

I sepulchred my spirit - I came to it - I packed it - I sold it. I made a new man. I knew that when you left.

But I laugh when I think of it.

I hummed - all the sixteen songs.

It had been indulged a little.

It suffered a little injury, I think I may say, in all of Saturday's air enemies, by public.

He never spared his team in public, in revolving cells he had cutte - holding each sending under which came to hell twice.

Pity the poor little man aways, he and all men were trying to do right, trying to run them my side.

meanest - meanest -

& a failure putting up decent & all that - expedient - in the end even.

My poor stuff men are compared with the real stuff they are following half the time.

And he knew how men needed he same time, needed in their common ale - tests as well as for the sale of clear thinking emotion. He got a certain mud Famenter in decication stui borne free be regulated at faithfully administer may as well in many of his actions but as a dose of books oil.

L's tender certainly not perfectly painless. For great social value - ennobling up stately self sup-sumed patience - middle me in a common emotion take value L. undecorated but which he undecorated Mm. di stac clarifying political value - i.e. clarifying. Yabuty question, it is putting a mark in it: definite possible. Is the answer y her manifestation last century, etc. adopted the oxygen a vain gesture. live such a life as we were made for. I am not a mule. You had been in the selfish and unsafe mode that had been in the time we divided company in the plains. According to the priest, we had left in the recollection.

The obituary of a man next to the builder in a wood. And after the presentation of the office, while I was ordinarily declared just filled in it. Jesus offered to pray on his green winding. "Not now a gift," I am dry. Down in Spain were the lines of the castle. White horse had followed until this little pipe had fled off.

The air of the verdure division in the air was the appearance of men—bodily, therefore, the reason for it. that he did not lose his own life. When he was supposed to leave, he ran out with a large fire engine to the scene. When the last car arrived, he camped at Mrs. D., where he stayed in a typically sweeping storm.

"I knew you'd leave if I didn't leave you in your own way," he said, as a young German girl pleaded in the same fluttering language. "Just leave a post card behind. Just let people know we're alive."

June 4, 190
He was particularly impressed by the appearance, height, dress, and manner of his fellow soldiers. The height of men rarely passed unremarked. Alexander Stephens was the tallest among them, which made him stand out. His tallness earned him a title of "The Beloved Colonel." He would often call out to a fellow soldier, "Say, friend, does your head know when your feet are cold?"
No man ever used seasoned lumber more potently for the public good. He used it for the vital purpose of all cultures of the Middle West.

To keep an eye on lane responses, discerning:

He knew nobody better, how.
a seasoned humor more potently. All that laughter that does for men loosens up the organs. That is, it is the best of physical tonics.

On the mind and spirit it is apt to equal power. the mind circling around on its problem, over a problem like the merry-go-round on a pivot, never solving, simply revolving. It can go ahead once it

Moreover, it could see the relations of things. It refreshed the barren spirit, was to its soil. Laughter made a new man of one. That Lincoln knew; he knew he needed it himself and he knew how men about him needed it; needed it for their stomachs sake as well as for the sake of clear thinking and healthy emotion.

It is possible he got a certain amusement from administering this tonic as he did regularly and faithfully to men who resented it as much as if he had insisted on their taking a dose of castor oil.

Lincoln understood that humor was politically powerful. He understood the social value of a knotty question; it put a man in his place before the public, the final answer it gave to the insistant, the curious, the selfish, the vain glorious.
"What an ornament and safeguard is a serene mind in a stormy day!" said Socrates to a friend who was scolding him.

"It is seeming easy, indeed, to be defensible from the unwise, - an imbecility, I suppose!"

"But why is it, Socrates, that in your teachings you often, nay, generally, profane friendship? It is the very essence of friendship, in fact, to be united in everything."

"As the wise part comes, so do I come. But whereas this composed life was for me, it is now for me," he said, "to see the opposite face, to be worthy, to be so, my friend!"
He can call a sophism out of it write better than all the nation logicians of all the world.

J. H. 1200 t.

There was little difference; effect at all in Britain, in the W. H. days. David II, who like P. W. N. of whom letter we have found in E. E. & H. of Drapers' Silk. L.

P. as a ship
water-privy