Lincoln in Greeley's Busy Life and some of Sheridan's letters to him in May 1865.

Lincoln had two narrow escapes in his journey to Washington.—In passing through Indians, an attempt was made to throw the train off from the track, and in passing up from Cincinnati a bomb, with a slow match, was found in a paper bag in Abe Lincoln's car. It would have exploded in fifteen minutes.

Election - 2-7