THE
1929
KALDRON OF ALLEGHENY COLLEGE

FORTY-ONE

MEADVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA
William Arthur Elliott

A scholar, teacher, and friend, who has won the admiration of his fellowmen by his untiring devotion to the highest principles of learning and rectitude, the Kaldron of 1929 is sincerely dedicated on this, the fortieth anniversary of his joining the faculty of Allegheny College.
FOREWORD

Forty years ago the Kaldron was born on Allegheny's campus. At that time it was a difficult and arduous task to publish such a book. In the foreword of the 1889 Kaldron it is stated, "we had everything to do for the first time." The editors of the present book are fortunate. They did not have everything to do for the first time and forty years of advancement in engraving, printing, and photography has made their task easier. However, the purpose of this Kaldron is the same as that of the first one, namely, to record the events and happenings, both great and small, of the college year by word and by picture in such a way as to be most interesting to the reader. We hope that we have succeeded in that purpose. The readers are the judges.

The Kaldron, which had a small beginning in 1889, has expanded to its present proportions by keeping step with the rapid strides of advancement that the College has made. We feel that this year Allegheny has taken a great step forward and we hope that the Kaldron of 1929 has kept that pace.

CLASSES
IN MEMORIAM

George William Blair
Member of the Class of 1929, Phi Kappa Psi
A friend to all who knew him
Born May 29, 1908 Died May 22, 1928

Senior Swan Song

There always comes a time for parting. This June the great class of 1929 will say goodbye to dear old Allegheny. Four years we have strode her stately halls and graced her beautiful campus. The time has been well spent. We hate to leave, but all good things must come to an end sometime. The class of 29 has made history while at Allegheny and when its members go out into the world of hard knocks they are bound to meet success. They will overcome the greatest of obstacles and will continue to make history just as they have done here. No matter how widely scattered they may become, there will always be a tie that binds them together which is the spirit of Allegheny and of '29.

There is no need to mention the things that we have done while at Allegheny, as there would not be adequate space here, besides everybody knows of our great achievement which was most clearly shown by the way our leaders took up the "Plan" and saw it to a successful conclusion. They were the ones that led the way to the breaking up of foolish fraternity rivalries which had held Allegheny back for so many years. It may not happen while we are in school, but it is our men who have been planning for an inter-fraternity council, something that Allegheny greatly needs to cement the bonds of friendship between the Greek brotherhoods. How the school has progressed in this our last year when we had the guiding reins in our hands! Was it not the leaders of our class who advanced the cause of the freshmen which would give them a chance to act like gentlemen instead of whipped animals? Yes, we are leaving Old Allegheny, but what a better place we are leaving than what we entered.

When we receive our diplomas we will be both joyful and sad. Joyful, because we have overcome our last scholastic obstacle and are on the road to better things; sad, because we must leave a friend that has harbored us and guided us throughout four years which seem short now but seemed long when we started. However, our die is cast and we must move on. Farewell, Allegheny. May we never forget you.

The Class of 1930

Three years have passed since we entered Allegheny, but to look at our achievements one would think we had been here for three times three.

In all lines of endeavor (philosophical and scientific) along with those more important phases of college life such as athletics and extra-curricular activities, we are outstanding.

Take for example the publications; the “Campus” is edited by a Junior; the work on the “Kaldron” has been done by Juniors who are the department editors; and the “Lit,” but for the write-ups and scintillating poetry of the Juniors, would be extinct.

Then another line—athletics. A Junior has been captain of the basketball team for two years; five Juniors made their letters in football; the track-team of 1929 is continued by a Junior; and but for the Juniors, cross-country would be useless; swimming is another sport in which we excel.

In all clubs, activities, and honorary fraternities, the Juniors are outstanding. Three out of six men on the debating teams are Juniors. Although we allow the Seniors to hold the offices in the various societies, it is the Juniors who do the work.

And socially—we’re a wow! Wasn’t the Junior Prom the biggest advertising stunt that ever was pulled over at Allegheny? All the papers had write-ups in, and the fun, including the Prom, was enjoyed by all—thanks girls!

Accomplishments too numerous to name are ours, but we are stating only the major facts; so our predominance in Allegheny is unquestioned.

Dear Readers, far be it from us to boast, but we feel that we are responsible for modernizing the old college through the medium of “Dudley Michael” who, of course, is a Junior; and that through our willingness to help the other classes, who are not so blessed as we are, we are trying to elevate the others although we know it is well nigh impossible.

And the faculty—they appreciate us! This has been proven by calling upon us to shoulder the burden which the tottering Seniors were unable to bear.

One more year and we will graduate—that is, the lucky ones—and Allegheny will give to the world her pride and joy—the greatest of all classes—the Class of 1930.

Sophomore Simmerings

To another year marches the best loved, the most intelligent, the most humane, the most modest, most talented, most thoughtful, and therefore the greatest class of Allegheny College (for the rest of adjectives see Roget’s Thesaurus, Crowell $2.50, pp. 33). These are no empty phrases but in themselves are exceedingly modest. To describe the class of ’31 in its true proportions would take word, phrases, and sentences that the writer would be quite incapable of. It would absolutely take a skilled man for that job.

Are we not the most humane class in history? Judge from the facts. Our great-heartedness revolted at the pitiable spectacle of a poor lonesome frosh making a worse fool of himself than he really was; so that after two weeks of an easy hazing our bountiful hearts opened and we let the poor benighted heathen go free, trusting them to behave themselves. But did they? The answer to this question, of course, is not relative to the glories of ’31, but to the dishonor of someone else, and therefore we will not discuss the matter.

Was not our big heartedness shown on the so-called Class Day exercises? We realized, naturally, that we were far superior to the freshmen class, and knowing full well that in a conflict of that sort we would be liable to lose control of our mighty strength, and forgetting everything, we would cause great and perhaps serious calamities to the opposing ranks, we sent only a few representatives to the field, who offered to take on the freshmen, but, alas, these worthies had had enough and even these few men frightened them from accepting the challenge, and thus they saved themselves from extermination.

Was not our kindness and good-spirit shown during “The Plan?” Most of us had just begun to get settled in our new homes, and were reaping the joys of fraternity house life, when “The Plan” was announced. And so, big hearted as we were, we voted to a man to give up our own homes and live somewhere else. (The twenty-five dissenting votes were cast by the selfish Juniors.)

Didn’t we break an old custom and heat the freshmen in debate? This one of many activities in which we surpassed all rivals. To tell of our numerous exploits in many other fields would take more space than allowed, to say nothing of our many individual feats and bravery (one of our members was married in the middle of his second year).

Was not our great modesty shown in the matter of the class pictures? So unassuming were we, that on the first call for the group picture only five or six came around; yet when we were called upon the second time and earnestly urged to be there, practically the whole class swallowed their reserve, and above is shown the results.

So you see, readers, we have proved by unsurmountable logic that ours is the greatest class of this worthy institution. None can beat us; in the virtues above mentioned we cannot be surpassed. Yet we are in a constant state of worry, fretting because of the disappointment we are causing the “world,” who realizes that it has two long years more to wait before it can welcome to its bosom the greatest class of Allegheny.

- FRESHMEN
The Class of 1932

Fructiferous Freshmen Fables

Of course such a class as ours had to start off with a "bang." We arrived here a week early and had the whole school ready and waiting for the other classes. As soon as they dropped around, the hall was set rolling and Allegheny awoke from her summer's sleep, awoke on the dawn of a great event, the debut of the class of '32. None of the other classes, however, seemed to appreciate what we had done for them. The Sophomores even went so far as to try to embarrass us before the ladies. We submitted peaceably, because everybody knew that we out numbered the Sophomores two to one, and that they would be horribly upset if we did exert our strength. The Freshman-Sophomore tie-up is ample proof that the Sophomores respected our brawn.

Thus far in our college career we, Freshmen, have been a versatile class. Never before was any class able to put 3 and 2 together on the water-tower and get 32. From appearances there was a good deal more of this Arabian arithmetic done about the Campus. Nobody knows who did it, which again proves our versatility.

Gradually during the year we have taken more and more responsibility upon our shoulders. From the very first the football team was ours. We rated in basketball to the renown ratio of 4 out of 5. Different members of '32 made the clubs on the Hill. We had a finger in the track team, the glee club, the band, and the inter-mural competitions. Our girls showed Hulings Hall the "which of what" when they took the Class Basketball title. Now at the close of the year we write 99 44/100% of the Campus; the remaining 66/100 are the margins. This volume of the Kaldron was compiled chiefly by the Freshmen. The parts you don't like are the contributions of the other classes.

Two hundred and fifty from '32 are listed in Allegheny's imaginary Social Whose Shoes. Oh, we are right up in there! Even the upperclasses admit the superiority of our girls. Our pride in '32's Hulings Hallers is justified beyond a doubt, if we judge by the enthusiasm of certain Alleghenians.

The year as a whole has been successful. "Freshman" has been the outstanding word of the year, athletically, socially, and by's ad infinitum. We entered every field of endeavor with varying degrees of success. In some cases our efforts experienced unprecedented success, which we, of course, admit was due primarily to our budding genius. We have at all times done our best, even when called upon to do things "falling leaf" acts.

The Sophomores, the Juniors, and the Seniors have all stepped aside to make way for our advance. We, who constitute the largest Freshman class ever to register in Bentley, have taken our rightful place at the head of all college affairs. We came, saw, and improved. We have endeavored throughout the year to build a better Allegheny. May our followers have even greater success.

ATHLETICS

[Image of gate]

[Image of athletic field]
The Athletic Board of Control, directing all athletics at Allegheny have for their purpose to advance and maintain a high standard of athletics and to present to the students and the townpeople the best program possible. In order to carry out this aim more effectively, the membership was increased this year by the addition of three members. The board is represented by the graduate manager and is composed of three faculty members, two representatives of the student body, and six alumni, four of whom reside in Meadville and the other two living outside of Meadville. It is an indispensable instrument in the organization of the college for through it comes the fine athletic policy found in the activity of the school.
To estimate the worth of this man to Allegheny in athletics would be a difficult task. Besides being director of athletics and head coach of cross-country and track he is also a valuable asset in football and basketball. In football he is not only considered a fine line coach but also as a scout he is one of the best. Through his untiring efforts he is responsible in a large degree for the success of all of the Allegheny teams. He is the man at the throttle of Allegheny's train of athletics and as a friend as well as a coach, "Smiling Charley" has the friendship of the whole student body.

Filling the very difficult position of graduate manager "Towny" performs his many tasks very successfully. Behind the stage of all of Allegheny's athletics is "Towny." Very often his accomplishments in this field are not given due appreciation. The duties of piloting all of Allegheny's inter-collegiate athletic relations fall on him and Allegheny's eminence in this field can be traced to his unusual ability as a manager. His work in the arrangement of schedules is especially commendable. Striving constantly to place athletics at Allegheny on a higher plane "Towny" deserves much credit for his work in engineering Allegheny's teams to their present standards.

CHARLES E. HAMMETT
Director of Athletics

S. S. TOWNSEND, '15
Graduate Manager

To the eight weeks of football season "Old Alleghe" had no actual fraternities. In place of the eight separate Greek-lettered organizations there existed one large homogeneous group of men, all bound together for the purpose of making a better Allegheny.

With the opening of the school term last September every student was determined that Allegheny should have the best football team possible, and was willing to bring about any change that would aid the cause. Therefore, realizing that a change in the social life would not only be of benefit to the football team but to Allegheny itself, the members of the eight fraternities came together and adopted a system called "The Plan."

The final action was brought about by several causes: First, a place was necessary for the housing of the football men, in order to help them observe proper training rules, to give them an environment where studies might be pursued in such a manner as to keep up the scholarship standard, and, most of all, to afford opportunity for the members of the squad to become personally acquainted with one another, for many of them were of the freshman class. Therefore, as a solution to this problem the Phi Gamens generously donated their house for that purpose. This meant that the Phi Gamens were unable to carry on rushing as other fraternities. Something had to be done; so a men's mass meeting was called and a system was adopted whereby all the fraternities would be disintergrated and the members would go to live in the other houses during the eight weeks of football season.

Thus the members of each fraternity (excepting the officers) moved to the various other houses on the hill. A certain day was announced and the process of moving was carried on by wheelbarrows, small boy's wagons, old Fords, and even freshman's hacks were pressed into service. One could see in every direction some true Alleghenian totting a trunk or several suit cases from one fraternity house to another. At the close of this memorial day each house found three or four members of each fraternity within its walls.

Social life now took a different form. Along with the forming of many new acquaintances the new surroundings were to be appreciated. Each house took on a different name. The various groups adopted such titles as "The Cosmopolitan Club," "Non-De-Script Club" and other similar titles. Home-Coming Day was not the same as in former years. Instead of the annual fraternity banquets a large banquet in the gymnasium was served by the college to the alumni, faculty, students, and guests of the college, and it proved to be one of the finest affairs of the fall term. Fraternity parties were unknown, for their place was taken by all college dances.

The result was not only a finer and a greater school spirit but also a much higher standard of scholarship. During these eight weeks delinquent scholarship was decidedly lower in percentage than for the same period the previous year. This shows clearly the new attitude taken by the fraternities toward the college as a whole. The attitude to serve the college rather than be served by it.

Although "The Plan" was instigated by a member of the faculty and sponsored by the students it was made possible by the students, faculty and the football squad working together for one definite purpose. However, much credit is due our alumni secretary, who is in a large degree responsible for "The Plan" and to him we give our gratitude and thanks. It proved clearly that the type of manhood in the fraternity today was willing to correct their own faults. True Alleghenians attempted what no other college has attempted and made a success of it.

“The Plan”

During the eight weeks of football season "Old Alleghe" had no actual fraternities. In place of the eight separate Greek-lettered organizations there existed one large homogeneous group of men, all bound together for the purpose of making a better Allegheny.

With the opening of the school term last September every student was determined that Allegheny should have the best football team possible, and was willing to bring about any change that would aid the cause. Therefore, realizing that a change in the social life would not only be of benefit to the football team but to Allegheny itself, the members of the eight fraternities came together and adopted a system called "The Plan."

The final action was brought about by several causes: First, a place was necessary for the housing of the football men, in order to help them observe proper training rules, to give them an environment where studies might be pursued in such a manner as to keep up the scholarship standard, and, most of all, to afford opportunity for the members of the squad to become personally acquainted with one another, for many of them were of the freshman class. Therefore, as a solution to this problem the Phi Gamens generously donated their house for that purpose. This meant that the Phi Gamens were unable to carry on rushing as other fraternities. Something had to be done; so a men's mass meeting was called and a system was adopted whereby all the fraternities would be disintergrated and the members would go to live in the other houses during the eight weeks of football season.

Thus the members of each fraternity (excepting the officers) moved to the various other houses on the hill. A certain day was announced and the process of moving was carried on by wheelbarrows, small boy's wagons, old Fords, and even freshman's hacks were pressed into service. One could see in every direction some true Alleghenian totting a trunk or several suit cases from one fraternity house to another. At the close of this memorial day each house found three or four members of each fraternity within its walls.

Social life now took a different form. Along with the forming of many new acquaintances the new surroundings were to be appreciated. Each house took on a different name. The various groups adopted such titles as "The Cosmopolitan Club," "Non-De-Script Club" and other similar titles. Home-Coming Day was not the same as in former years. Instead of the annual fraternity banquets a large banquet in the gymnasium was served by the college to the alumni, faculty, students, and guests of the college, and it proved to be one of the finest affairs of the fall term. Fraternity parties were unknown, for their place was taken by all college dances.

The result was not only a finer and a greater school spirit but also a much higher standard of scholarship. During these eight weeks delinquent scholarship was decidedly lower in percentage than for the same period the previous year. This shows clearly the new attitude taken by the fraternities toward the college as a whole. The attitude to serve the college rather than be served by it.

Although "The Plan" was instigated by a member of the faculty and sponsored by the students it was made possible by the students, faculty and the football squad working together for one definite purpose. However, much credit is due our alumni secretary, who is in a large degree responsible for "The Plan" and to him we give our gratitude and thanks. It proved clearly that the type of manhood in the fraternity today was willing to correct their own faults. True Alleghenians attempted what no other college has attempted and made a success of it.

MELVIN P. MERRITT
Head Coach

During his three years at Allegheny, Merritt succeeded in producing his best team this year. His interest in the scholastic standing of his men and his abstinence from rough coaching tactics all tended to produce a good team and to maintain the goodwill and confidence of the whole college. The passing of such a leader leaves a gap that will be hard to fill and the absence of his presence next fall will be deeply regretted.

The 1928 Football Season

Allegheny’s 1928 football season proved to be the best season since 1925. From a squad of which more than half were freshmen Coach Merritt composed a team which won four games, lost three, and tied one, a record which is decidedly favorable when the difficulty of the schedule is taken into consideration.

In the first game of the season Allegheny scored a 32-0 victory over the veteran Mount Union team. A system of short passes, line plunges, and end runs took the ball Grove City held to no gain for five touchdowns. Mount Union played a good, steady game and furnished a real test for the new team. The new backfield members, Garbark, Berger, and Varano, were given much of the responsibility on the offense, and their work received the praise of the whole school.

Another victory was scored in the game with Westminster the following Saturday. After exhibiting a complete reversal of form in the first half, putting them on the small end of a 7-0 score the Blue and Gold warriors revived in the next period to score two touchdowns, running through their opponents at will, and won the game 13-7. It was a decisive victory, but a costly one, as McKay sustained a broken hand in the fray, forcing him from the next two games. The team's defensive work in the first half, and Varano's line plunging in the second were the features of the game.

The first major game of the season, with Dartmouth, resulted in a defeat for the Thiel scores a touchdown Blue and Gold, but it was a defeat with honors. Although the score, 37-12, shows a wide margin, for three-quarters of the game Allegheny held the strong Dartmouth team practically even, succumbing to the powerful attacks only in the last quarter. The work of the Blue and Gold in this game received praise from sports writers throughout the East, and delighted Allegheny followers. The work of "Toughy" McManus was especially of note.

EIGHMY BOYLAN

The next game proved the second defeat, Pitt emerging victorious 29-0. Throughout the first half the Big Gold seemed to be bewildered, passing wildly and plunging to no avail. Pitt was playing excellently, and ran up a 22-0 score for the period. In the second half Allegheny tightened up and held the Panther to seven points. Although Allegheny's showing appears to be rather poor, the sting of defeat was somewhat removed by the fact that Pitt had one of the strongest teams in the East this year. The defensive work of Billings in the second half was the feature of the game.

The next game proved the second defeat, Pitt emerging victorious 29-0. Throughout the first half the Big Gold seemed to be bewildered, passing wildly and plunging to no avail. Pitt was playing excellently, and ran up a 22-0 score for the period. In the second half Allegheny tightened up and held the Panther to seven points. Although Allegheny's showing appears to be rather poor, the sting of defeat was somewhat removed by the fact that Pitt had one of the strongest teams in the East this year. The defensive work of Billings in the second half was the feature of the game.
Much mud and bad punting proved the defeat of Allegheny at the hands of Grove City in this year’s battle. In the first half the Big Gold completely outplayed the Crimson and emerged in the lead, 7-0, but in the second period, although Allegheny gained more yardage than their rivals, two bad punts near the Blue and Gold goal line gave the Crimson opportunity for two touchdowns, bringing the score to 13-7. Allegheny tried desperately to score in the last quarter, but the repeated assaults were all stopped, and the score remained at 13-7. Hughes and Storrie starred in this game.

After three straight defeats the tie with Theil was disheartening. In the opening minutes Allegheny marched steadily down the field for an easy touchdown, but the resulting six points were Allegheny’s last points of the game. In the second quarter Theil was given the ball by a referee’s decision of interference on a long forward pass. This put them near the goal, and a touchdown came quickly. Late in the last quarter Allegheny took the ball to the four-yard line, but in a confusion of signals no score was made. The game ended in a 6-6 tie. Beals featured in the game.

After a great inspiring pep meeting the Blue and Gold fought through for a surprise victory over the strong Geneva team by a score of 8-7. A touchdown from an

An intercepted pass gave Allegheny six points, and a safety from a blocked kick brought the score to 8-0. In the second quarter a long run gave Geneva a touchdown, resulting in their seven points. With this close score the last quarter was a hard-fought period, but the Blue and Gold withstood all attacks, and remained in the lead, 8-7. It was the biggest victory of the year. The whole team played well, and the work of Garbark and Hughes was especially noteworthy.

In the last game of the season Allegheny ploughed through Alfred to win 27-0. The game was a series of marches down the field, line plunging producing almost all of the gain. Good playing characterized the whole game, Eighmy's punting and 70 yards gained in line plunging being the feature points.

HONORABLE MENTION

Although these men failed to earn their letters they were of great value to the team and deserve recognition. They were the men who jumped into the game to fill up a breach in the line or backfield when a regular was injured or not up to form. Constantly fighting for positions they kept the lettermen on their toes to retain their regular berths. Next year they will undoubtedly be a source of strength to the team.

BASKETBALL
C. D. BAKER, ’10
Coach of Basketball

To take new material and develop a team that at the end of the season will have suffered defeat only four times, and two of those by one point margins, is a feat accomplished only by such a coach as Baker. The record of the team this last winter proved not only “Dick’s” unusual ability as a coach but also as a leader of men. The spirit of fraternity and congeniality that he built up among the new members of the team who had never played together before made for a cooperation that was in a large degree responsible for the team’s great success. Sincere and loyal, he is constantly striving to bring honor to his alma mater, and in his selfless efforts he has won the respect and admiration not only of his team but also of the entire student body.

The 1928-29 Basketball Season

With a remarkable team that included four first year players Allegheny made a brilliant record in the 1929 season. The team was small, but so endowed with accuracy, speed, and determination that it cut this disadvantage to a minimum, and turned in a record of nine wins with but four losses and two of those by just one point margins. Completing one of the best seasons of basketball in recent history the Blue and Gold compiled a record and established a standard of play that won the admiration of all those who knew the team.

The season opened with Wittenburg during Christmas vacation. With the opening whistle the Blue and Gold unloosed a whirlwind of speed that gave them a 20-3 lead at the half. The second period opened in the same overwhelming manner, but Wittenburg was able to recover against the subs suf-

The following week, with “Granny” back in the game, Allegheny traveled to Washington, Pa., to beat Washington-Jefferson by a 33-31 score. Having an eighteen point lead in the last quarter the Blue and Gold eased up and the enemy broke through to score sixteen points in the last six minutes. Bair was leading scorer with ten points and Dennison and Berger having nine points each.

After a week’s lay-off due to final exams, the game with Thiel was the beginning of a two-game slump. Although the Blue and Gold won 35-31 the spark and flash seemed gone and Dennison alone was in form, scoring five field goals. Continuing the slump, the Blue and Gold lost the second game of the season to Westminster by a score of 36-12. Netting but three field goals the entire game this decidedly to make the final score 47-29 in favor of Allegheny.

Just after the re-opening of school in January a practice game was scheduled with the Sharon Buhl Club. Although the Blue and Gold won, by a score of 29-24, this encounter proved expensive when “Granny” Bair strained his ankle in play. This proved doubly unfortunate, however, because the next game was with the powerful Westminster team. On that evening, five freshmen took the floor, accorded no chance whatever, and played phenomenal basketball to hold the Blue and White tornado to a one-point victory, the final score being 26-27.

Two days later the same five freshmen defeated Grove City in a game of good smart ball 30-27. Dennison started in the game by scoring ten points while being guarded by Ryan, a star defensive player. Using admirable strategy the Blue and Gold freshmen proved in this game their ability as basketball players.

ROBERT GARMARK
HARRY DENNISON was undoubtedly the worst showing of the season.

Then, staging a complete recovery, the Allegheny warriors held the strong Bethany team to another one of those one-point victories. The final score being 32-31, indicates how hard fought the game was throughout. The whole team was in top form and Dennison starred with twelve points.

Playing one of their best games of the year, the Blue and Gold upset the prophecy by defeating Geneva here by a score of 30-25. Having an advantage by being all six-footers meant nothing to Geneva when the Blue and Gold started their charge with whirlwind speed. The Bakermen seemed unbeatable that night and although Geneva played hard and well their defense seemed helpless before the tremendous speed unloosed by the Allegheny players.

The second game with Grove City was played on the home floor. The team played smoothly and easily and defeated Allegheny's old rival without difficulty, finding themselves on the long end of a 40-25 score when the final whistle blew. A margin of victory quite satisfactory to Allegheny students and followers.

Again pitted against the strong Geneva team the Blue and Gold further proved their superiority by winning 31-23. Hoping for revenge the Geneva giants fought hard but the speed of the "Flying Frosh" kept them on the long end of the score and proved that the first game was no upset.

The last defeat of the season came at the hands of West Virginia. Playing on the large Mountaineer floor after the strenuous game the evening before greatly handicapped the Blue and Gold and they were defeated 29-38.

WILLARD COX was a star for Allegheny and became a legend in the history of the team.

ALLEN MOOK

After a two days' rest Washington and Jefferson was defeated on the home floor. Conn and Garbark performed unusually well in this game and Massing proved his real worth when he was substituted for Berger, who had to leave the game on account of fouls. The entire team played easily and at the end of the game were on the long end of 33-28 score.

The second Thiel encounter proved an easy victory at Greenville. The team ran up a lead in the first few minutes and with the scoring spree in the last period of the game the final count at 33-10.

The last inter-collegiate game of the season with Waynesburg was Allegheny's by a margin of 38-23. After getting off at a slow start the Baker men completely out-played the visitors and the game was a fitting finish to a good year. The Alumni battle capped the season. Four of the '27 champions returned to oppose the varsity and although the old grad combination played good though disorganized ball they were forced to accept defeat at the hands of the '29 team, the final score being 44-27.

A record of nine wins with but four defeats is a record to be proud of but the fact that two of these losses were by a margin of one point makes it even better. The spirit of fraternalism and congeniality built up by Coach Baker made for perfect cooperation of the team and this one thing attributed much to the season's success. Losing only one member of the squad great hopes are held for the next year. Each member fitting in so well may make it appear difficult to see just where the team will be able to improve, but they generally improve the longer they play together.

TRACK
1929 Track Season Prospectus

A more promising outlook is seen for the track squad this season than at the begin­ning of last year. Coach Hammett is not confronted with so many difficult problems and the inter-fraternity meet was of benefit in more than just to arouse keen rivalry, for it brought to light several freshmen of good promise for the varsity track squad.

In the sprints the team will feel the loss of Danner, but his place will be filled by veterans of last year. Lunn and Smith who both ran last season are expected to place in these events this year and with Greer, a promising freshman, the sprints will be well taken care of.

The inter-fraternity meet brought to light two freshmen quarter-milers who will probably run that event this season. Greer and Rupert, both freshmen, with Smith from last year should run this hard race quite well for the Blue and Gold squad.

In the half-mile Kelley and Needham who were strong in this event last year will be the standbys. Kelley has shown much improvement this year and will be a real fighter for first place against any man.

Dreibelbis and Minnis form the nucleus of the veteran men in the distance events and with Worrell, a freshman, who placed first in the two mile in the inter-fraternity meet, the coach will experience no trouble in choosing his men for these events. This group of grinders should win their share of points in the meets this spring.

Letter men will be seen in the hurdles. Eighmy and Stehle, both veterans of last year’s team, will fill these positions again. Wescott and Conn, two very promising freshmen, will be available for the low hurdles and they should win their points in this event.

With the loss of Fred Long the events of pole vault and the high jump have been weakened to a large extent. Lewis, a man from last year, and Mansell, a freshman, will fill the list of pole vaulters. In the high jump there will be Eighmy from last year and there are plenty of candidates among whom Lawry and Mansell are probably the best.

The weak spot last year will be strengthened this season by the addition of men from the freshman class. Al Moon, Beals, and Eighmy all men who have had experience in the field events and with Moody, in the discus and shot put, Dennison leaving the javelin and Knapp on the end of the hammer some real strength should be shown in this troublesome spot of last year.

The track squad to represent Allegheny this year is about as well-balanced a squad as one could expect in any school. In every event there is strength and they should all come through with points that when added up will mean a win.

1928 Track Season Resume

An even break in four meets is the record the Blue and Gold track squad turned in for the season when school closed last June. Under the able leadership of Captain Danner, "the sprinter," the squad won two meets and lost two to very strong teams. The Allegheny team was victorious over Westminster and Thiel but dropped their meets to Geneva and Grove City after hard fought battles. Coach Hammett had quite a problem filling the positions of three of the leading scorers lost by graduation the previous year and by the ineligibility of another. Especially did the field events cause him worry for in these events Allegheny was left weak. The team boasted of some good, consistent runners on the track but the field events were not as strong as they might have been and proved a handicap most of the season.

The season opened on a cold, drizzling day with Westminster and when the results were added up it proved to be a winner for the Blue and Gold. Danner finishing first in the 220 and the 440 with Minnis and Dreiblebis coming first and second in the mile gave the Blue and Gold many points, but it wasn't until the last event of the day, the hurdles, that the meet was finally decided, the match was so closely fought throughout. Mirtz, taking first place in the mile and two mile, was the leading scorer for the Blue and White team of Westminster.

The next meet was with Thiel on the following Saturday at Montgomery Field. The Greenville team proved an easy winner for the Blue and Gold. Scoring heavily in all events, Allegheny won the victory by a large margin.
Against Geneva the Blue and Gold suffered the first defeat of the season. Geneva boasting of one of the finest teams in the district gathered many points in the field events and won by a score of 90-45. Although winning the 220, 440, and the two mile the Blue and Gold were unable to garner enough points in these track events to overrule the field events. The winners taking all three places in the javelin and discus added considerably in registering their win.

The final meet of the season was held with Grove City and in the beginning it looked as though Allegheny might be the victor. Danner winning the 100 and 220 gave the Blue and Gold hopes but Bartlebaugh of Grove City nosed him out slightly in the 440. Taking many places in the field events and also first in the mile and two mile gave Grove City the extra points that won the meet.

The meet with Grove City was the last collegiate competition for four of the Blue and Gold members. Captain Danner, who was leading scorer for four seasons, Raymond Bentley, a hard working miler and two miler, Emmett Jackson, a shot and discuss man, and Fred Long for two years the best pole vaulter for Allegheny.

Again the Allegheny harriers proved their Tri-State supremacy in winning the championship for the second straight season. Five victories without a defeat comprises the season’s record, and all meets were won by a comfortable margin.

The first meet of the year, with Westminster, was won with little trouble, 18-37. Minnis led the pack, followed by three other Blue and Gold runners, giving Allegheny all of the first four places. Pitt was met, and Allegheny destroyed its hopes by winning 22-23, capturing three of the first four places. Again Minnis was first, and Gill second.

Grove City invaded Allegheny for the next meet with a fine team, but were outclassed. Jim Evans, star Grove City runner, captured first place, but Allegheny placed the next five men consecutively. In the Thiel meet Tommy Gill ran wild to break the course record, leading the field in another Allegheny victory, 23-32.

Geneva offered the hardest opposition of the year. The meet was run on their unusual course, a decided disadvantage to the Blue and Gold. In spite of this the Allegheny harriers took the first two places, and the remaining places were divided almost equally, making the meet Allegheny’s by the score of 25-30.

Minnis was the team’s leading runner for the year with a remarkable record of three firsts and two third places in the five meets. Gill was a close second, the two being almost tied until the last meet. Dreibelbis performed consistently all year to take third place. Needham, Ellis, Dean, and Eastman were the remaining members of the team.

The Allegheny harriers were a hard-working squad, and needed to be to win the championship over such difficult opposition. The runners performed equally well over all courses, and lost first place but once during the entire season. A large amount of the credit is due to Coach Hammitt for his excellent training of the squad. The fact that the entire team will return next year gives great promise for the ’29 season.

Allegheny was represented by a swimming team again this year, and, although they only participated in one inter-collegiate meet with Pitt which they lost by a large margin it was not because of lack of swimming talent but rather the lack of finance and practice that they did not make a better showing. The Athletic Board of Control permitted the activity of the team with the understanding that they be self-supporting. At the outset of the swimming season the manager made attempts to schedule such teams as Thiel, Westminster, Grove City, Carnegie Tech, and the University of Pittsburgh, but these attempts went for naught when it was realized that it would be impossible to financing the team. Such a schedule as was contemplated would undoubtedly have resulted in a very successful swimming season for Allegheny. However, the prospects for next year’s team may be brighter.

After a year's inactivity a tennis team was again organized last spring. Soon after the Easter vacation a meeting was held and a manager and captain were elected. Having to be self-supporting the team secured finances to begin the season by sponsoring a movie at one of the local theatres. A schedule was then arranged with many of the schools in this district, but owing to the bad weather conditions one of these matches was unable to be played.

The team worked under several handicaps during the season. The inadequacy of the college courts caused the games to be played on the various fraternity courts where facilities were not made to accommodate spectators. Also, the captain was handicapped in choosing his players due to the members of the last team having graduated and due to bad weather conditions. However, in spite of these handicaps the team came through with a fairly successful season. Two matches were won from Thiel, one from Geneva, and a match with W. & J. resulted in a tie. Winning three and tying one of the seven matches played is a commendable record for a new and inexperienced team. The Blue and Gold racket wielders gave each opponent a real battle and many interesting and exciting matches were held.

The scores of matches played are as follows:

1929 Tennis Season Prospectus

Lloyd Gordon, '30 ...................................................... Captain and Manager

With the success of last year urging on the tennis enthusiasts another team has been organized this year. A manager and captain were elected at a meeting held soon after Easter vacation and practice sessions are now being engaged in. A tentative schedule has been made up with many of the neighboring schools, and matches will be played as soon as the weather permits. Losing only two members by graduation the team will have some additional strength in this year's freshmen class. Then with Bert McGill and Sam Hibbs, two seniors, who were unable to participate last year there will be plenty of material from which to choose a team. Again this spring the handicaps of poor playing courts and lack of finances confronts the team. However, the outlook is favorable and much brighter than last spring. Although the first three scheduled matches were unable to be played due to weather conditions we hope to see the team come through with some wins later on.
With the re-opening of school after the Christmas holidays each class issued a call for candidates in order to form a class team to participate in the inter-class tournament. Several strong teams entered the tournament and many interesting and exciting games were played. The Juniors winning the championship last year were again expected to turn the trick, but the plucky sophomores playing throughout the season with only one loss gave them undisputed championship. In the first round of the tournament the sophomores emerged with a clear record while the other three lost two games each. During the second round the sophomores lost one game to the Juniors in one of the best games of the entire tournament, however, this one loss did not prevent their winning the championship. The sophomore team with Haase, and Knapp as guards, Alter as center and McCleary and Smith in the forward positions composed a smooth working combination. Last year’s champs who were runners up and succeeded in securing second place this year had a very good team composed of McKay, Munnell, Harrer, Gillies, and G. Johnstone. The senior team which was also a strong contender for the victor's crown and gave the other teams a real battle was composed of Rowlingson, Slaven, Corbin, Sleightholm and Bowen. Much interest was shown throughout the entire tournament and on many occasions the games were as exciting as the inter-collegiate contests themselves.

Inter-Class Basketball

The Junior Class losing the championship in basketball came through on March 16 to take first honors in the inter-class track meet. Winning by a six-point margin the victor class scored 31 points, the sophomores 25, the seniors 20, and the freshmen finished last with 10 points.

In the first event of the meet Herb Eighmy led Stehle by two inches in the 20 yard high hurdles, tying the record to win in 4.2 seconds. In the second event Lunn and Richards tied for first place in the eighty-five yard dash, each making the course in ten seconds flat, while third place went to Stehle.

In the mile run Tommy Gill took first place with Minnis second. Dreibelbis by placing in the trial heat took third place. Lunn and Richards nearly tied again in the 220 yard dash but Richards emerged victor, winning by a tenth of a second in 25.9 seconds. The same close margin separated “Bookie” Brown and Richards in the 440, but here Brown finished first winning in 55.7 seconds.

Dreibelbis ran a hard race to win the two mile, Worrell finished second with Minnis third, the time being 10:38.1. In the half mile a close race was run between Kelley and Richards, Kelley finishing first in 2:13.7 seconds.

The work of Tom Mansel, a freshman, in the high jump was especially encouraging. He cleared the bar at 5 feet 5 inches, Eighmy taking second and Lawry third. Al Moon performed quite well in the shotput, tossing the shot 43 feet 3 inches, Eighmy capturing second and Miller third.

Richards was high point man of the meet, his points totaling fifteen. Herb Eighmy with eleven points was second while Lunn, Minnis, Stehle, and Dreibelbis also won places in more than one event.

Inter-Fraternity Swimming Meet

A very successful inter-fraternity swimming meet was held in December. Teams representing Phi Delta Theta and Delta Tau Delta tied for first place, each scoring 21 points with the Phi Gamma Delta team finishing a close third with 20 points. Being closely fought throughout the meet could not be decided until the last event, the relay, was swum, and fate refused to play favorite and ended the meet in a tie. The Phi Gamma relay team composed of Bingler, Grassall, Richhorst and Showers nosed out the Delta by less than a yard and the Delta crowded out the Phi Delta by even a narrower margin. As a result, the Delta and Phi Delta were tied and the Phi Gamma missed a triple tie by a very narrow margin. The meet was undoubtedly the most successful ever staged in recent years and the spirit and sportsmanship shown was of the finest type.

Inter-Class Track Meet

The Junior Class losing the championship in basketball came through on March 16 to take first honors in the inter-class track meet. Winning by a six-point margin the victor class scored 31 points, the sophomores 25, the seniors 20, and the freshmen finished last with 10 points.

Inter-Fraternity All-Around Indoor Meet

When the final count was taken in the Seventh Annual Inter-fraternity All-Around Indoor Meet this last winter it was found that Beta Upsilon was the victor by one-half point. A large number of competitors furnished plenty of vigorous and exciting competition and the score gives an indication of the tenerness of the struggle. Beta Upsilon finished with a score of 40 1-4, Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 39 3-4 finished second, and the Alpha Chi Rhos were third with 18 points. Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta and Phi Kappa Psi followed in the order named. The winning fraternity received a bronze plaque which had been in possession of the Sigs during the past year. There are now two fraternities who if either one wins the meet another year, they will have permanent possession of the plaque.

The victory came to the Beta Upsilon track men by virtue of their qualifying six men in the mile run and placing enough of them to give them the slight margin of victory in that event. The outstanding performances of the meet were those of Al Moon hurling the shot 42 feet 2 inches and Bob Hoke equaling the college record of 6 feet 5 inches in the high jump. Weisel was high-point man with Elijah a close second.

Inter-Fraternity Outdoor Track Meet

The Annual Inter-fraternity Outdoor Track Meet was held on April 22. Beta Upsilon placing men in all but the weight events, captured first place with Sigma Alpha Epsilon second, and Phi Kappa Psi third. The two leading teams accounted for the majority of the points scored in the meet.

Lunn took first place in the 100 yard dash, barely nosing out Greer, in 10.4 seconds. In the second event, the mile run, Gill lead the field in 4:48, followed by Minnis and Needham. Kelley easily won the 880 yard run in 2:08:3, leading Needham, Hase and Anderson. In the 440 dash Harrington Smith sprinted to defeat Greer and Rupert by a close margin in 54 seconds. In the 220 yard dash Lunn and Greer run another close race, Lunn again winning, in 23.8 seconds. H. Smith and McIlvride took third and fourth places. In the two mile run Jack Worrell, taking the lead at the half mile, and holding it, took first place from Dreibelbis.

With Elijah and Siehle unable to compete Coni won the 120 yd. high hurdles in 17.4, leading Ray Anderson and Kaj. In the 220 low hurdles Westcott lead Coni with time of 29 seconds.

Poor showings characterized most of the field meets. In the pole vault the highest mark was 8 feet 9 inches, made by Mansef, Lewis capturing second place. In the shot put Al Moon took first place with 37 feet 1 inch, with Moody, Milner, and Wolfe taking the remaining places. Moon took another first place in the hammer throw, his throw of 112 feet, 9 1/2 inches bettering Beals, Knapp, and Sundgren. He took another first place from Dreibelbis.

One of the most interesting and closely contested sports on the inter-fraternity program during the past year was bowling. A keen but friendly rivalry was manifest throughout the season. In order to enhance this rivalry, the eight fraternities on the Hill, along with the Faculty and Non-fraternity, were divided into two sections, or leagues, with five teams in each section.

The team representing Phi Delta Theta was victorious in section 1, winning eighteen games and losing but six. Close on their heels came the Sigs, with a record of seventeen games won and seven lost. The Phi Psis were third, only three games behind the Phi Delts. The finish was not so close in section 2, where the Delts emerged victorious with a record of seventeen games won out of twenty-four played. A three game margin separated them from their nearest rival, the Non-fraternity.

At the end of the regular season, the Delts and Phi Delts, winners in their respective sections, met in a five game match to decide the championship. The Delts started out well by taking the first game, but they failed to keep up their good work and dropped the next three games and the championship. In token of their victory, the Phi Delts were the recipients of a bowling trophy, fashioned in the shape of a duckpin.

The highest individual score made in competition during the season was that of Sam Hibbs, of the Sigs, who topped over 204 pins in one game.

Inter-Fraternity Volleyball

Sigma Alpha Epsilon took the inter-fraternity volleyball championship for 1929 when they defeated Phi Delta Theta, defending champions, in two out of three games in the playoff for the title. The Phi Delts triumphed in the first game by a score of 21-17, but the Sigs came from behind to take the two remaining tilts by scores of 21-17 and 21-9. The Phi Delts were the leaders in Section A, winning four games and losing none. The Sigs, with a like record, were champions in Section B. The Phi Delts were hard pressed by the Phi Gams, who lost but one contest, that to the Phi Delts by a very close score. In Section B, the Sigs' closest rival was Beta Upsilon, who won three and lost one.

More than usual interest was shown in the volleyball games during the past year. When two skilled, closely matched teams meet, many exciting and tense moments are furnished during the combat.

Inter-Fraternity Baseball

Another form of inter-fraternity competition that furnishes enjoyment as well as much excitement is the baseball tournament every spring. Among the eight fraternities and the Non-fraternity group are formed two leagues, and as soon as the weather permits the teams battle to determine the winner of each league by each team playing its own league members once. The league winners then play a "little world series" and the winner of two of the three games is the champion of the Hill. If the third game is necessary it is played during Commencement Week.

Last spring weather conditions hampered the playing of the regular schedule to a large extent and the teams experienced great difficulty in playing all of their games. The games determining the champions were hindered by the weather and only one game was played. The Sigs winning that one were awarded the cup. This cup purchased by the Student Senate, who also makes the rules of the tournament, awards it each year to the winning team with their name engraved on it for permanent possession.

This year the leagues are playing as near a regular schedule as they are able in spite of the weather conditions. Strong teams are in each league and the winners cannot yet be determined with any degree of certainty but in League A the S. A. E. team will probably be the ones on the top and it is very liable that they will again win the championship from the winner in League B, the freshman class having added more strength to their team. The realism and the seriousness with which this tournament is taken can be seen when in the second day of the season a game was protested.

Women's Athletics

The principle interest in women's athletics this year centered around basketball and hiking. Due to the fact that the usual Inter-fraternity Basketball Tournament was abolished from the schedule, basketball was limited to two varsity games and the now famous Pajama-Nightgown Tussle.

The Pajama-Nightgown game took place early in March, and was meant primarily to increase the lagging interest of the Hall girls in sports. What it actually did was to call attention of the whole college to women's athletics and as a result the gymnasium was packed when the varsity played here. The two varsity games played this year were both with Edinboro Teachers College, the first being at Edinboro on March 8 and the second being the following week, March 19, on the Allegheny floor. The games were both well played and the superiority of the College team over their opponents was evident from the start, the Blue and Gold girls winning the first game by a 23-19 score and the second game by a 20-11 score. All of the squad will be available for next year, and Miss LeRoy has strong hopes of developing a sextet that will sweep over all the teams in this part of the State. Plans are being made for increasing the number of schools on the schedule next year.

The only class tournament arranged was in basketball and while the freshmen came out the victors their right to any title is doubtful since all but one of the games went to them by default.

An Outing Club was organized last fall with Helen Baird as president having as their aim the conducting of hikes and courses in various phases of woodcraft. The activities of the club together with two hikes and a swimming meet sponsored by the Athletic Board complete the round of events on the women's athletic calendar for the year.
PUBLICATIONS
Publications at Allegheny

Several important changes have been consummated by the Board of Publications during the past year in an endeavor to sharpen interest in journalism and, thereby, to better the publications. The first change concerns the management of the Campus. There will be two managers on the staff hereafter: the first, to take care of circulation among the alumni, the second, to handle all the advertising. The second change is in regard to the election of the editor of the Campus. The editor will be elected in May, his tenure of office to be one semester. This term, however, includes the privilege of re-election in January for the remainder of the year. This plan allows for the editorship to be more equally divided among the competitors, and it also allows the editor the benefit of the aid and advice of his predecessor. In all publications there will be a closer check on competitive work, in order that there may be no partiality whatsoever in the awarding of the various positions.

For several years there has been talk of paying the editors for their work on the various publications. The Board has now granted an appropriate amount of money to go along with the editorships of the Kaldron, Campus, and Literary Magazine. This is only just in view of the great amount of time that must be spent by the editors to insure the success of their publications.

As has always been their function the publications attempt to create a maximum of journalistic opportunities for those whose interest lies along this line. These opportunities are varied, students being given the alternative of news stories or essays and other articles of deeper literary merit. Various awards have been instituted in order to increase interest in journalism; Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalistic fraternity, selects from the student body those whose work has been outstanding in this field; the college presents silver awards to all who have participated in two years of journalistic work, and gold awards to the editors of the publications and the General Manager of Publications. In this way Allegheny is fostering and encouraging journalism of merit.

The Board of Publications is the executive body of the college publications which controls the editing, managing, and publishing of the Kaldron, the Campus, and the Literary Magazine. It is composed of three faculty members appointed by the president of the college, and the editors of the three college publications and the general manager of publications by virtue of their positions. The Board has jurisdiction over the financing of the publications and the soliciting of advertising both local and national. It also has the power to elect the editors and managers of the three publications and the general manager of all publications. All appointments to staff positions by the various editors must be approved by the Board.
The Kaldron

Allegheny's first yearbook, appearing in 1889, was produced under the direction of the junior class. This form of staff lasted for only a few years, however, being superseded by a group consisting of representatives of the various fraternities. In the course of a few years this plan, too, was discarded, and the present system was inaugurated.

Positions on the staff are now determined on a purely competitive basis, the editor-in-chief being a member of the senior class and the department editors being members of the junior class. Thus the Kaldron has been from the time of its inception a strictly student enterprise.

In the Kaldron is embodied the history of the college. Classes, athletics, activities, fraternities, and features tell the story of Allegheny's very life more completely and veraciously than any other written account. The task of gathering up the loose ends of the year's events, of correlating them, and of moulding them into a unified whole is one which requires a greater expenditure of time and effort than the completed book would indicate. The volume is, like any other project, made possible only through the unqualified cooperation of everyone into whose hands the task is laid.

Our Kaldron is, then, a necessary and worthy adjunct to our college life. Without it many memories of association and rich experience would fade. Certainly this alone is ample justification of its existence.
The Campus

Those students who are interested in news writing find in the Campus, the weekly newspaper published by the students of the college, a medium for the expression of their journalistic talents. The keen and intense competition maintained throughout the year among the various staff members serves to indicate the importance attached to the department editorships. Those who have competed for these positions believe that the training gained in actual reportorial work and the experience arising from grappling with various journalistic problems is invaluable.

The province of the Campus is unlimited, for it must cover every phase of student activity and interest. News, athletics, society, and features combine to make the newspaper the composite structure and record of student life. Alumni have their own page in the publication and are, thus, kept in touch with the trend of events in their Alma Mater.

The Campus has always been, unconsciously perhaps, the chief means by which student policies and opinions are spread. This is certainly true of the past year. Revived and enlivened by the contributions of several anonymous reformers, chief of which was, of course, the famed Dudley Michael, a satirical gentleman whose keen intellect, alert eye, and sparkling pen overlooked weaknesses in our college world, the Campus snapped out of its lethargic state and came to be, curious fact, eagerly awaited and closely scrutinized each week.

Continuing the policy inaugurated last year the new editor was elected at the mid-term, William C. Wycoff being elected to succeed E. F. Phillips, Jr., and a new staff was appointed by the incoming editor.
The Literary Magazine

The Literary Magazine was first appearing in 1896 for the avowed purpose of offering an outlet for the production of the essayist, poet, and short story writer. The magazine has held closely to its chosen field and has enjoyed a steady growth both in merit and in popularity.

It can be honestly said that student interest in the publication mounted considerably this year. Rather harsh student criticism apparently found its mark and transformed the magazine in the interval between two successive issues. The final issues of the year were particularly gratifying, several stories of an unusual type and the incorporation of a book review department adding immeasurably to the excellence of the production.

The Literary Magazine is certainly on the up-grade.

Through the efforts of these men all routine business is ably taken care of, and the publications kept on a sound financial basis.
Forensics at Allegheny

Deliberate and ardent as its one of the leading student activities at Allegheny. Besides the inter-collegiate contests, many intra-mural and inter-class debates and oratorical contests are sponsored by the college and the various societies on the campus.

Allegheny's reputation in the field of debating and oratory is one of the best. She is easily the outstanding debating school in this section and her record of forensic victories has been equalled by few colleges in the country. It is only the limited financial circumstances of the Oratorical Board that prevents the arrangement of a more extensive debating program each year. At present the schedule is limited to three or four debates for each team during the season, but these are so arranged that the very best teams are met.

Forensic relations are maintained with such colleges as Wooster, Hillsdale, Oberlin, Mt. Union, Dickinson, Franklin and Marshall, Washington and Jefferson, and Westminster, so that contests of the highest quality are assured. A record this year of three wins and two non-decisions against one loss is one to be proud of, particularly, against such colleges as named above.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore debate which is accompanied by the traditional rivalry between the two classes helps to bring out much forensic talent. It is hoped to be able to arrange inter-collegiate contests for the Freshman team in the future.

Allegheny is a member of the Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical League which is composed of eight colleges and universities in this district. A contest is held each year by this organization to which each member sends a representative. In the case of Allegheny the representative is the winner of the Wakefield Oratorical Contest. Aubrey Billings is the college's representative this year in the contest which is to be held at Colgate University.

As stated above, the intra-mural forensics are also developed to a high degree and a number of contests of various kinds provide ample opportunities for training in the art of speaking. The Wakefield Oratorical Contest, the Delta Sigma Rho Extemporaneous Speaking Contest and the Philo-Franklin Forum Contest are the principal oratorical events. Several worthwhile prizes are offered to the winners of these contests which helps to stimulate interest in them.

Every encouragement is given by the faculty to forensic activities. A fee is charged each student on the college bill the first semester of each year, thus assuring the Oratorical Board a small but definite income for the maintenance of the debating teams, etc. College credit is given debaters in recognition of their work on the teams and several courses in the curriculum of the English Language and Public Speaking departments give definite training in debate and oratory.

Although it is true that forensics do not play the important part in the student life that they once did, nevertheless, they are still a potent force in moulding the student mind, and the training they give in accurate expression and clear thinking are still essential to the well educated man. Eloquence has given place to logic and reasoning, but the fundamental principles of oratory still hold good and are of permanent value. Whatever else may hold the attention of the student mind, forensics will remain always, as they have since the colleges were founded.

As is suggested by its name the Oratorical Board has as its function the control of all oratorical contests and debates. This includes, of course, the selection of the varsity debate team and the arrangement of an appropriate schedule of debates with other colleges. The student body is kept in touch with the proceedings in this line through its representatives, Billings, Rutherford, and Miss Barringer.
1929 Debating Season

In early December the freshmen and sophomores unknowingly opened a very successful debate season for Allegheny. Incidentally the sophomores won the decision. A week later the trials for the varsity were held. The faculty committee finally selected Robert Rutherford, George Munnell, and Tom Gill for an affirmative team with Robert Wilson as alternate. For a negative team the committee chose William Wycoff, Bert McGill, and Aubrey Billings, with Harmon Gilbert as alternate. Billings had twice been winner of the Wakefield Oration Contest, and McGill had just previously won the Delta Sigma Rho Extemporaneous Speaking Contest which Rutherford had won the year before.

After the Christmas recess work was begun in earnest. The proposition for the Westminster, Hillsdale, and Triangular debates was "Resolved, that the principle of complete freedom of speech and press on political and economic questions is sound." The question for the Dickinson, and Franklin and Marshall debates, which were held after the Easter holidays, was "Resolved, that the representative arts, literature, and drama should not be censored."

Shortly after work had been begun on the first proposition Wycoff was forced to drop his position on the team. Wilson filled the gap and successfully occupied the place throughout the entire season. Jones, a veteran of last year's team, took Wilson's place as alternate.

With this minor change in the original line-up the teams entered the schedule. The first debate, with Westminster on February 28, was held before the forum of Stone Church. The affirmative team lost this debate to Westminster by one vote of an audience decision. This defeat was the only mar on an otherwise perfect record. But losing this debate did not dampen the ardor of the teams. Two weeks later the negative team defeated Hillsdale by a unanimous decision of the judges. Two nights later both teams participated in the annual triangular debate with Oberlin and Wooster. The negative team met the Oberlin affirmative in Ford Chapel. Our affirmative team traveled to Wooster to argue with their negative. The debates were an immense success; everybody went home happy, because there was no decision.

With the triangular debates over the first part of the schedule came to an end. Arguments were temporarily forgotten while the "yes-men" made up the quizzes they had missed and the "no-men" caught their breath. After the Easter holidays work was again begun, only on a new question, that of the censorship of the representative arts, literature, and drama. But before the teams had any more than got started Tom Gill resigned his place in favor of Jones, who completed the season as the third affirmative speaker.

On April 16 the dual debate with Dickinson was staged. Both our negative team at Carlisle and our affirmative team at Meadville won unanimously. The next day the negative team continued over the road from Carlisle to Lancaster where they argued with the men from Franklin and Marshall that evening. Unfortunately the judges did not show up for this debate; so it was non-decision.

The Franklin and Marshall debate closed the season. Next year all the members of this year's teams will return except Wilson, Billings, and McGill. The loss of these men will be keenly felt. Next year's team will have to do a lot of work to better or even equal the fine record set this year.

Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest

With his excellent speech on "The Sea's Strength" James Hamilton was awarded first place in the annual Philo-Franklin Oration Contest, held on April 18 in the Ford Memorial Chapel. Tom Gill, speaking on "A Challenge to America," won second prize. G. Roberts More gained third place with "Needed Reforms in Criminal Court Procedure." Prizes of twenty-five, fifteen, and ten dollars were awarded to these three speakers.

In his winning speech Hamilton compared man's environment to an ocean, an on-rushing force which is threatening to engulf him, but whose waves man, by the exercise of control, may conquer. The speaker said, "In order to be effectual cogs in the machinery running the universe, we must first control ourselves, for men must rule themselves before they can govern others."

The complete list of speakers and their subjects is as follows:

James Hamilton ............................................................... "The Sea's Strength"
Tom Gill ............................................................... "A Challenge to America"
G. Roberts More ........................................................ "Needed Reforms in Criminal Court Procedure"
Paul Cares ............................................................... "Life's Structure"
Joseph Borrison ........................................................ "Voices"

Wakefield Oratorical Contest

For the second successive year Aubrey M. Billings was the winner of the annual Wakefield Oratorical Contest which was held in the Ford Memorial Chapel on Thursday evening, December 5. This annual contest is held in accordance with the will of the late James A. Wakefield in memory of his grandfather, the Reverend Samuel Wakefield.

As winner Mr. Billings received the main prize of thirty-five dollars. He delivered a powerful oration on "False Gods." Bert McGill received the second prize of fifteen dollars by his presentation of "The Pagan God of War." The other contestants and their subjects were as follows: Donald Rowlingson, on "Prohibition;" Robert Wilson on "Facing the Morning," and Robert Rutherford on "The Teeth of the Dragon." The judges of the evening were the Reverend A. A. Lancaster of the Congregational Church of Meadville and District Attorney Stuart A. Culbertson.

By winning the contest Aubrey Billings won the right to represent Allegheny in the Intercollegiate Civic Oratorical Contest which will be held some time in May.

Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical Contest

As has been the custom Allegheny sent a representative to the Inter-Collegiate Oratorical Contest, which was held at Colgate University on May 3. Mr. Aubrey M. Billings, the winner of the Wakefield Oratorical Contest, was Allegheny's representative. Although he did not place in the contest Mr. Billings gained much praise for his clear and concise oration and the fine manner in which he delivered it. Allegheny's orations have always been of a high caliber and in the face of such strenuous opposition, Mr. Billings' work was particularly pleasing.

Among the colleges and universities which compose this section of the Inter-Collegiate Civic Oratorical Association are Colgate, Westminster, Washington and Jefferson, Oberlin, Cornell University of Pittsburgh and Allegheny.

With such a wealth of material in the oratorical line Allegheny should go far. Her reputation is far spread and it is hoped that attempts will be made to put it on an even higher plane.

Delta Sigma Rho

INTER-FRATERNITY EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEAKING CONTEST

On Monday, November 5, the annual Extemporaneous Speaking Contest sponsored by Delta Sigma Rho, honorary national forensic fraternity, was held in Ford Memorial Chapel between the various social fraternities on the Hill. The many issues of the presidential campaign afforded material for the general topic; these had been studied thoroughly beforehand by each contestant. The specific subject was not announced until a few moments before chapel time.

Bert McGill of Delta Tau Delta fraternity was pronounced the winner after a careful survey on the part of the judges. Mr. McGill spoke on "Smith's Stand on Prohibition." The topic was ably handled by the winner, who showed unusual skill in the treatment of his subject. As winner he received for his fraternity the beautiful loving cup which was donated by Delta Sigma Rho. The fraternity that wins this award three times will gain permanent possession of the cup. Phi Delta Theta, the winner of last year's contest, received second place by virtue of the efforts of their representative, Robert Wilson. His subject was "Political Corruption." The other fraternities were represented in the following order: Sigma Alpha Epsilon by Foster Alter's "Hoover's Qualifications for the Presidency;" Beta Kappa by Joseph Wolfe's "Smith's Qualifications for the Presidency;" Phi Kappa Psi by Robert Bates' "Farm Relief;" Alpha Chi Rho by Howard Plates "Hoover's Stand on Prohibition;" Phi Gamma Delta by Donald Knapp's "Natural Resources;" and Beta Upsilon by Paul Dreibleib's "Tammany."

Each contestant showed a thorough preparation in the contents of his speech and the performance as a whole commented very favorably on Allegheny's forensics.

At the end of the addresses Tom Jones, president of Delta Sigma Rho, announced the winner and Tom Gill on behalf of the fraternity presented the trophy to Mr. McGill. The judges were Dr. McClean, Dr. Woodring, and Dr. Schultz.

Delta Sigma Rho has made a great contribution to forensics on the campus and has established a tradition that will do much to strengthen the interest displayed by the student body in all college oratorical contests.
A strong sophomore team defeated the freshman team in the annual debate between the two classes this year. As a result of this victory the sophomores have won five out of the eight interclass forensic encounters held since 1930. This debate attracted much attention from the members of both classes. The plebes had hoped to defeat their keen rivals but the more experienced sophomores outshone them and the judges gave the decision to the second year men by a two-to-one vote.

The freshman team was selected by open competition, the final members being chosen after try-outs. The sophomore team was the same as last year.

The debate was held in Ford Memorial Chapel on Friday evening, December the seventh. The question for debate was, "Resolved, That the principle of complete freedom of speech and press on political and economic questions is sound." The affirmative was upheld by the sophomore team, consisting of Donald Knapp, James Weyand, and Howard Plate; the freshman team, consisting of Richard Marker, Paul Cares, and Harmon Gilbert, took the negative side.

The judges for the debate were Professors Wesley J. Wagner, Dale E. Thomas, and John L. McKinley; and the chairman was Aubrey Billings.
During the last two years something of a rejuvenation has taken place in the Glee Club. From an organization which for several years was barely more than a name, it has come to be perhaps the foremost group in the school. The second year under the tutelage of Mr. Morton J. Luvass has proved even more successful than the first, and the club is gradually building up a reputation of clean-cut performance and all-round excellence which succeeding years will find difficult to uphold. In the absence of Mr. Luvass the club was in charge of James Meadowcroft, student director, whose competent and efficient leadership brought out the best that was in the group at all times.

The club competed again this year in the Inter-collegiate Glee Club Contest held at Pittsburgh. Though they were forced to bow to Penn State, their showing was very creditable and called forth many favorable comments from music critics. During the early part of April the group made an extended trip in and about the Pittsburgh district, singing in as many as three or four concerts a day before high schools and various organizations. Besides these lengthy trips several one concert trips were taken. These were for the most part local appearances and included such places as Erie and Conneaut.

This extraordinary success was due largely to the whole-hearted support of the administration, the alumni, and the entire Allegheny student body. We no longer smile when the Glee Club is mentioned, for the fact that over one hundred competed for membership this year shows to what extent student interest has risen. So go to it boys; we are all hack of you.

Men’s Glee Club

One of the greatest reasons for the success of the Men’s Glee Club during the past year was the popularity of the club quartet. This group, composed of James Springer, first tenor; James Meadowcroft, second tenor; Jack Hartman, first bass, and Clifford Behrhorst, second bass, won by virtue of the excellence of their performances the approval of every audience to whom they sang. Perhaps their chief achievement was in the musical playlet “Cleopatra,” which the club presented late in November.

The principle character, Cleopatra, was ably portrayed by James Weyand, whose shrill falsetto added much to an already amusing situation. Cleo was loved passionately by William, who in spite of all his efforts was being closely pressed for her love by Anthony, Pompey, and Caesar. William conceives of a plan whereby he can eliminate his rivals. Just as each of the others begins to make love to Cleo William appears as a ghost and frightens him off. Cleo, saddened by the loss of all her suitors, determines to kill herself, but William reveals himself at the psychological moment, and Cleo then realizes the depth of his love.

This clever and amusing story is told entirely in song, the quartet and Cleo being aided by the chorus, which consisted of the entire club. Some of the musical “hits” were “Cleo Mine” by Anthony, “I Am Caesar” by Caesar, the prologue by William, and “All My Lovers” by Cleo. In addition to these the number “I Shall Die” sung by the trio, was hummed and whistled all over the campus for several weeks. That alone attests the manner in which the production was received by everyone.

The cast was as follows:

Cleopatra .................................................................James Weyand
Anthony .................................................................James Springer
Pompey .................................................................James Meadowcroft
William .................................................................Jack Hartman
Caesar .................................................................Clifford Behrhorst

A good bit more interest has been directed toward the program of the Women's Glee Club this year than for some time. This added interest was due primarily to the improved type of concert which was presented from time to time during the year. The evening of the presentation of "Cleopatra" the Women's Club offered a program which was unique in its originality and unusually brilliant in its consummation and finesse. Several other equally entertaining concerts were given during the year. The last appearance of the year will be the annual home concert, which will be presented this year in conjunction with the May Day exercises.

The Band

The College Band, under the able leadership of James Meadowcroft, has completed another successful, though rather brief, season. This organization, which has at its command all the musical talent of the college, functions chiefly during the football season. Here at each game its stirring music adds greatly to the spirit of the day. Its members practice faithfully during the year to present programs which meet student approval, and, though their efforts sometimes seem to go unappreciated, we feel sure that everyone would hate to see the Band's passing, for it really does present quite creditable performances.

The Band's last appearance of the year will be a concert in the chapel at a date not yet decided upon. This concert will be part of the commencement program.
Founders’ Day

Perhaps the most memorable event of the year took place on April the twenty-fourth when the annual Founders’ Day was celebrated. The same general program which was received so enthusiastically last year was repeated, and opinion was universal that the performance lost nothing in repetition.

Time in its impetuous, headlong flight defies all ordinary attempts to impede its progress, yet that evening witnessed its turning back one hundred fourteen years. A veil was temporarily cast over the present as six hundred sons and daughters of Old Alleghe were united under the spell of those stirring events of 1815. Music and dancing of bygone days lent an atmosphere which completely thwarted Time.

Awed by the inspiring setting of flickering candle light, the college sat down in the gymnasium to a hearty meal of the food which delighted Timothy Alden and his associates. During the repast Mr. Dominick Spirito, the accordion soloist who delighted those at the banquet last year, presented music of covered wagon days.

Following the meal William Hunter danced a Highland fling, and men and women of the college presented several beautiful old time dances, including the Virginia Reel. Then to climax all came the portrayal by men students of the Founders’ Scene from the Centennial Pageant. This entire entertainment was excellently done and will undoubtedly be long remembered by those who witnessed it.

But Time must be served. The mantle dropped away quickly as Dominick Spirito and his trio began to drift into modern melody. The dancers of 1815 would have experienced considerable difficulty in keeping up with Mr. Spirito’s syncopation, but not so the Alleghenians of 1929, who found him very much to their liking. The dancing continued from nine until one—this being the only social function of the year to continue past midnight.

If the tradition of an annual Founders’ Day banquet was not established last year, it certainly has been now, for all look forward with happy anticipation to a repetition of this program.
Mr. Pim Passes By

Excellence in dramatic performance has long been a tradition at Allegheny. This tradition was not broken when on May 16 the dramatic clubs of the college presented at the Meadville High School auditorium A. A. Milne’s comedy “Mr. Pim Passes By.” Any who before the actual presentation of the play may have expressed fears for its success were soon to have any such misgivings dispelled, for the performance itself contained none of the distinguishing qualities of amateur acting. The combination of several experienced actors and some excellent new material assured a very creditable production from the beginning. Milton Brown was very impressive in the lead role of Mr. Pim, the amusing old gentleman, whose uncertain memory caused so much trouble. Mr. Brown was well supported, and the entire cast deserved to be congratulated on its performance.

Miss Spalding has gained a reputation for presenting year after year plays well produced, staged, and coached. Her reputation suffered none with this year’s effort. We will look back on “Mr. Pim Passes By” with pleasant recollection of a well-rounded and polished performance, and we will look forward to next year’s play with happy anticipation.

Membership in the senate is, as it should be, limited to upper-classmen. Each fraternity nominates three sophomores from its members, one of which is elected in the spring. The entire student body has a vote in the election so whatever evil may arise from student government are the results of negligence and insufficient interest. The prerogatives of the senate are such that its power and influence embodies many possibilities for the common good of all.

Every type of society requires some controlling body. The purpose of the Women's Senate is to create and enforce the laws governing the residents of Hatting Hall. Its functions, however, do not consist entirely of the promulgation of laws, for its jurisdiction extends to all business matters and problems that may come before the women of the college. Its constituency includes three seniors, three juniors, and two sophomores, the president being selected each year from the senior members.

The primary purpose of the Pan-Hellenic Board is to insure cooperation among the sorority women. Another organization which appeared among the women of the college this year was the Women's Student Council. This group handled the social problems which came up from time to time. Meetings were held once a month, at which time questions regarding parties, dances, and socials were discussed, and appropriate legislation was enacted. Succeeding years will undoubtedly find this organization taking its rightful place on the campus, for its field is one where its powers, wisely applied, can be made to have a beneficial influence.
One of the greatest character building and man making organizations in the world is the Young Men's Christian Association. Its primary aim is the development of the lives of its members in the fullest way possible. To this end it lays stress particularly on the religious side of our lives, not neglecting, however, the importance of the educational, the physical, and the social. Here at Allegheny the "Y" combines the religious and the social aspects in an organization which realizes in the lives of its members a richer and a more complete existence.

Perhaps the most active of the women's organizations is the Y. W. C. A. This group constitutes the only medium for the expression of religious activity. In conjunction with the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. sponsors the reception held for all students near the beginning of each school year. Through its vespers services all who wish are given an opportunity to worship, and through its program of leadership training, student forums, and parties it keeps in touch with the educational and social sides of the college.
The Classical Club, the first of the departmental clubs of Allegheny, was established in 1897. The club is an organization primarily for students who are particularly interested in classical subjects. The programs are stimulating and of such variety as to insure interest. The purpose of the club in promoting a closer acquaintance among its members, and a greater devotion to sound scholarship has been abundantly realized.

The Classical Club meets twice a month; meetings are devoted especially to papers and discussions on assigned topics in classical study.

Le Petit Salon is composed of students who are especially interested in French. Those students who contribute most and who will receive the most benefit from the club have been selected. The aim of the club is to give practice in French conversation, and at the meetings which are held twice a month in the French Club room in the Library, conversation is entirely in French. The programs at the meetings are varied and interesting. The club gives several French plays every year.

The History and Political Science Club was organized for the purpose of discussing questions concerning history and political science and consists of students majoring in these departments. The club holds regular meetings at which local and international problems are discussed. This year for the first time a pin will be made for the club. A committee composed of Thomas Jones and Alice Stephens are in charge of the designing of the pin.
This organization, one of the oldest on the campus, strives to keep interest in forensics at a high pitch during the college year. All students who are interested in any branch of oratorical expressions are eligible to join the forum, which intends to provide a means for any student to practice public speaking. This forum conducts the Philo-Franklin Oratorical Contest each spring and occupies a high place in the mind of the student body. It is under the guidance of the Department of English Language.

This organization, formerly known as the Oxford Club, was established for the purpose of keeping alive interest in lines of Christian endeavor throughout the campus. During the past year the constitution has been amended so that women are now eligible for membership. Only students who are interested in careers of Christian service are included in its roll. The club believes that the development of Christian character should always be a paramount aim of the college. For many years it has been one of the most forceful religious groups on the campus. Monthly meetings for social intercourse are held.

The Block A Club was founded in 1920 in order to bring the athletes of the college into closer friendship. To be eligible for membership it is necessary to win a college athletic letter in either football, basketball, or track. The organization endeavors to cooperate with the athletic board in advancing true sportsmanship. A small gold A worn on the lapel of the coat is the insignia of the club.

German Club

This club, new on the campus this year, has already established itself as a permanent organization. Its purpose is, of course, to foster the German language in the college and to provide an opportunity for fuller expression and discourse among the more talented students. The success which it has enjoyed during its first year is indicative of a prosperous future.

The Student Playshop of Allegheny College is in a state of organization. It is the aim of this group of dramatists to supplant the now defunct Duzer Du-Klee O'Kleet dramatic club. Since the establishment of the Little Theater on the third floor of Bentley four years ago, Duzer Du-Klee O'Kleet continually failed in its purpose of being an active unit on the campus. The plays produced there were produced under the auspices of Miss Spalding’s Play Production classes. Whereas the Duzer Du-Klee O’Kleet relied upon drawing its membership from college play casts and producers, the Student Playshop will draw its membership from active participants in the Play Production class as well as from the former source.

Much of the work of organizing has been completed. Robert C. Wilson, temporary president, with the aid of Phyllis M. Connell drew up a constitution that was adopted by the group. The final steps of organization will soon be completed. By its constitution, the Student Playshop pledges itself to foster dramatic interest on the campus, to meet for the purpose of experimentation and discussion, and to aid in the production of plays, either sponsored by the club or the college.

The Student Playshop may or may not serve a useful function on the campus. Its usefulness will be determined by the way its members manifest an active interest in dramatic productions. The new Little Theater in the basement of Arter Hall should prove an incentive. Many college groups will be watching this organization. Let us hope that the Student Playshop of Allegheny College will justify its formation.

A Modest Foreword to Ye Prospective Reader

The following pages contain the 1929 Feature Section of the Kaldron. We hope that you will like it but it is not our fault if you do not. Remember that its all in fun and if you find yourself the target of one of our putrid puns laugh it off. However if you do take offense don't seek out the editor to wreak your vengeance as we have just purchased a one way ticket to Siberia. So as we stated previously, grin and bear it like a man (or a co-ed).

Many radical changes have been made this year. The department has been enlarged so as to include three thousand five hundred and forty two pages of droll and mirth provoking material. The autographed pictures of President Hoover, Babe Ruth, and Eleanor Glyn were of course secured by the editor. It was with great regret that we had to turn down pictures of the Queen of Spain and the Prime Minister of Poland, but we found it necessary to draw the line somewhere.

DIRECTIONS FOR READING: First take two stiff drinks, secure an easy chair, light up a cigarette, and belch. Now carefully balancing the volume in the palm of the left hand utilize the right hand in turning the pages. Grasp the pages twixt forefinger and thumb and with a deft twist of the wrist flip over the page. You are now ready to read. Scrutinize each page with care until you have become disgusted, fallen to the floor in a fit, or are stopped by gusts of raucous laughter.

ANTIDOTE: If one happens to be seized by uncontrollable fits of laughter call a veterinary immediately. While waiting for the doctor try a few of the following simple home treatments.

(a) Fill oral cavity of the victim with glue or plaster of paris.
(b) If method (a) fails try pounding tacks into the feet of the patient.
(c) If method (b) has also failed either wait until the veterinary arrives or if he fails to arrive shoot the victim.

First Authentic Pictures and Stories of Anonymous Campus Columnists
DUDLEY MICHAEL COLUMNIST III
CARL COLUMNIST III
At last the insidious veil of mystery which has surrounded these writers for the past year has been torn aside. Aaron Toootsieroll, our demon reporter, has at last secured the story of these writers after weeks of painful searching and inquiry.
Dudley Michael is a female! Can you imagine the surprise and embarrassment of Aaron when he discovered Dudley to be the tall, stately, dignified woman pictured above. Who could believe that the columns of biting sarcasm that so delighted the souls of the students could come from the pen of a meek maiden. Of course Dudley Michael is only her non de plume. Her real name is Madame Fifi.
Madame Fifi was born in the slums of Cambridge Springs and spent the first seventeen years of her life there. This no doubt accounts for her pessimistic outlook upon life. So determined was Madame Fifi to secure an education that she worked in a doughnut factory for five years following her graduation from high school. It was her arduous task to secure the salvaged holes of doughnuts and tie strings around them to make nets for the fishermen of Lake Erie. When Madame Fifi had saved up the huge sum of twenty-two dollars she matriculated at Allegheny where she has been a student for the past three years. Madame is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and president of the Y. W. C. A.
Carl Columnist, the budding wise cracker, threatened to publish his picture in the Campus. But gentle and kind readers he did something far worse. He sent it to the editor of the Kaldron. Thus you see that we are entirely free from all blame for publishing the above—shall we call it a picture? Anyhow it is one of the few authentic pictures of Carl Columnist III, the grandson of Carl C. I., and presumably the son of Carl C. II. We are unable to explain why his hand is resting in the Eagle's nest or is it a hay mow? Carl Columnist is only his nom de plume, his real name being Harry Snowbottom. He was born in Switzerland. Hence the cheese-y expression.
His boyhood home was near a brook and he has been babbling ever since. But Carl is a good boy and will doubtless amount to something some of these days if he doesn't watch out.

Hats off to these girls! They're a good bunch but we're not saying what they are good at. But it is not quite that bad even though they do carry the keys to their heart around on their breast. Not that isn't a strong enough hint, but that it is an awful confession. Even this, however, is no excuse for them to high-hat the whole college.

Now the Kappas are a bunch of social climbers, that is to say that more of them than any other sorority climb the hill to the Phi Gam House. The funny thing about the whole affair is that they seem to make the grade. Just another proof that you can't keep a good girl down. Where? Say, what is your idea of bringing that up.

The total weight of the Kappas comes to some three-quarters of a ton less than that of any other Greek letter order; but don't let this mislead you, count them first. Our advice to the Kappas is reach for an Old Gold and cough up the sweets.

But these Sisters are the scholars. Don't ask why. All that we know is that when the Campus tells the story K. K. G. is always standing first, and you count from the top down. But with their hearts in plain sight and their true selves well hidden behind their make-ups, it is easy to see why they succeed so admirably at apple-shining. Hence the Phi Betes.

Well folks, give these little (?) girls a hand. The smiling group above comprise the renowned K. A. T. Club. And well do they live up to their name, but that is another story. The sad fact remains that this organization was founded at the Erie Business College in 1914 by Gilda Gray and Louise Fazenda. They each wanted to better the living conditions of the working girls and out of their hopes and dreams grew this sorority. At their first meeting they adopted their name for no good reason at all.

The girls had a hard struggle for existence but after years of toil and worry they have succeeded. The sorority has two chapters, the mother chapter and the new chapter at Allegheny. It is rumored (and this is strictly confidential) that in a few years the sorority may have another chapter. The Tuesday Afternoon Picnic Club of the Saegertown High School has applied for a charter and everything looks favorable.

There's no question about it; you just can't keep an ambitious group of girls down.

The picture above was snapped during the recent hay fever epidemic and hence this accounts for the small number in it. The little damsel to the right in the first row is Mayabelle K. Glutchammer of Three Forks, Penna. Seated beside her is Anna Gulp Listerite. Both these fair maidens are engaged to a couple of big military hair brush boys from Culver. Hence the beautiful military belts they are wearing. The girls in the back row are two of their pledges and their names must be withheld from the general public. The other sororities might find out who they were.

Their pin is an object of beauty and signifies the following: The two stars of course stand for the two movie stars who founded the order. The white band on which their name is printed denotes their purity. The rest of the pin is black. Below the name you will find a few Greek letters which were put there just to look nice as neither Gilda nor Louise could speak a word of Greek.

Alpha Chi Omega, as you have probably noted above, was founded at the Ben Hur one balmy August evening. It seems that one of the boys was whooping it up and in a hectic fit of generosity had purchased a package of Zig Zag. Lo and behold he fair escort found a triangular pin in it. As she was feeling rather dizzy at the time she decided to found a nautical organization. Later they discovered there were no oceans, rivers, lakes, or streams around. So the original purpose of the club was lost. But the girls still wear the sea faring costumes as you can see in the accompanying photo. Now that you have heard the history of the organization perhaps you can fathom their purpose. If you can, you are better than the present writer for as yet he has been unable to discover it. But they are with us and are perhaps a necessary evil.

They seem to have a pronounced tendency to get camouflaged in wholesale lots, but aside from this trait appear to be rather nice girls. It is also rumored that they are of a cruel and bloodthirsty nature and even have a rough initiation. Imagine keeping the poor little freshies up all night long and actually hitting them with ping pong paddles. Oh, I could just weep pellucid! But in the course of this cruel practice we will be daring enough to predict that if they improve themselves three hundred percent they will in time make the grade. Good hek, girles.

Dear T.Us, don't feel hurt at what we said above, even though it is true. Remember that murder will cost; so don't start looking for the editors. We are not responsible for what we print.

But you know folks, these girls really number more than four, but at the time of the taking of the above photo last fall so many of the Sisters owed Wetherby Studio money that they didn't dare go down to get their faces shot, because they had to use all their ready cash for a dance. Wann't that simply too killing for words.

For some reason or other these lassies seem to excel all the others in collecting fraternity jewelry, particularly pins, and cowboy jewelry. Maybe the other girls have the fellows, but it takes a T. U. to get actual, material proof of her gold-digging. Of course that is only putting it mild, but maybe you get what we mean.

This formidable aggravation of pin lifting girls is headed by the lovely Miss, well why spoil it. Actually thought, there are those who think that she is charming, even though they are mere Freshmen. Enough, enough, stay this blasphemy. Pile all charges of slander with Miss French, Registrar's office. Thanks.

But we shall let the dead past bury its past and attempt to enlighten you regarding this aristocratic fraternity.

This formidable aggregation of pin lifting girls is headed by the lovely Miss, well why spoil it. Actually though, there are those who think that she is charming, even though they are mere Freshmen. We offer the following questions for your consideration and approval. Any one answering seventy-five percent of them correctly will probably be mentally unbalanced but nevertheless we are offering a beautiful fur-lined cocktail shaker to the student getting the most number right.

1. Have you ever kissed
   a. a girl
   b. a woman
   c. a cow
   d. neither?

2. Have you ever been kissed by a, b, c, or d?

3. Do you eat chicken with your fingers?

4. Do you have a tendency to sleep with your eyes shut?

5. Do you shave with a razor?

6. Have you ever, ever told a naughty story?

7. Do you raise
   a. hogs
   b. dandruff
   c. hell?

8. Do you snore out loud?

9. Do you ever eat crackers in bed?

10. Have you ever, ever, ever told a naughty story?

11. Do you raise
    a. hogs
    b. dandruff
    c. hell?

12. Do you smell
    a. good
    b. bad?

13. Do you ever play around
    a. the barn yard
    b. a piano
    c. any body?

14. Which way does the wind blow?

15. Do you toast your bread on both sides?

16. Do you ever blow
    a. about yourself
    b. a balloon
    c. up?

17. Do you wash your neck after washing your ears?

18. Would you trust
    a. a member of the student senate
    b. the proprietor of the book store
    c. a member of the faculty?

19. What is a Potfor?

20. Do you subscribe to the Whirlbang or the Atlantic Monthly?

21. Have you ever snapped
    a. shots
    b. garters
    c. out of it?

22. Do you gedunk or jump at conclusions?

23. Did you ever fly
    a. in an airplane
    b. into a rage
    c. off the handle?

24. Do you toast your bread on both sides?

25. Do you ever talk with other people when you are alone?

26. Did you ever go blind
    a. on a date
    b. on bad gin
    c. all of a sudden?

27. Do you inhale
    a. cigarettes
    b. air
    c. smoke?

28. Do you pray in the evening or don’t you sleep in a folding bed?

29. Have you ever ridden on a tandem bicycle?

30. And finally do you have a pronounced tendency to see any sense in these questions?
The Looting of Sam McGrew

A bunch of the boys were whooping it up
At the Phi Gam Sunday Tea.
And the boy that pounded the music box
Wore the pin of an S. A. E.

Now out in alcove by the living room
Sat the Kappa who is known as Lou.
And by her side on the large divan
Lounged the dangerous Beta U.

Now there's girls that some how grip your eyes
And such a girl was Lou,
With face most fair and a brillian stare
Of a woman who would collect her due.

Then out of the night which was hotter than hell
And in to the tainted air
Strode a sophomore from the Phi Delt House
With Nujol on his hair.

He looked like one who had had his last date
With scarcely the strength of a flee
But he straightened his tie with a steady eye
And called for a cup of tea.

His eyes went rubbering round the room
And his face was terrible to see.
Till at last he saw that music box
And made for the S. A. E.

Were you ever out to a Chi Rho dance
With everybody damn near froze,
With the putrid orchestra playing its worst
And your broad climbimg all over your toes?

Well that's just how that Phi Delt played
Only a wee drapee worse,
When up rose a Delta and two Phi Pals
And cried, "Dammit, we were here first."

The music almost died away
It sounded like the boom of a life
When by the paneled door of the living room Appeared the B. U. with a knife.

Then suddenly the lights went out
And two pins flashed in the dark.
The lights went on to our great regret
And the sight we saw was stark.

The Phi Delt crest was pinned to the breast
Of the Kappa who is known as Lou.
So the Kappa broad with a choking sob
Swallowed the pin of the Beta U.
R. O. T. C. Corps Established at Allegheny College

It has long been the opinion that Allegheny College was sadly lacking in military training for its students. So when the famous Russian General, J. Twoppington Fifflefife, located in Meadville and decided to form a unit of the R. O. T. C., the idea was received with wild enthusiasm by the students.

In the above photograph you see seated the brave little band that collected about the banner of General Fifflefife. Reading left to right they are: General Fifflefife, Azzelbell Twit, Toady Buzzard, and Arron Baffleshincksy. Major Baffleshincksy is wearing the mortar cap to commemorate his recent graduation from a rank private. That the General secured this able army quickly only goes to show that there are still men of real spirit in the school who are ready to shed their last drop of blood for dear old Allegheny.

The next photo shows the army drilling. Note the cup at the right of the picture. The stellar corps received this for being the worst drilled army at the national convention this year. Observe, also, if you please, the look of grim determination upon the countenance of every man in the corps.

But alas! General Fifflefife became inebriated one evening and disclosed the intimate state secrets of the army. Much as his men hated to discipline him, it was necessary and hence he was court-martialed. Major-General Buzzard who passed sentence upon him said, "Much as I hate to do this, I am forced to sentence you to be shot at sunrise. Let this be a lesson to you."

The picture on the lower left shows poor General Fifflefife being driven to his death in the state chariot. Note the woe he gone looks upon the visages of all concerned, especially the General.

Finally we see the actual picture of the General's death. His men with tears in their eyes bid him farewell and aimed their trusty muskets at their beloved General. His last words were, "Young men of America, touch not the foul boozle as it leads but to the grave." Thus speaking the brave General passed to his just reward.
The Gushings of Catherine Co-Ed

My dear, I was POSitively all wrought up last fall when those CRAzy men moved all around, to carry out what they called the PLAN. The whole thing started when the PHI GAM'S offered their house to the Football Squad, so as to get a bigger and better school spirit. The next thing we knew everybody else took their bags and baggage to some place where there was an empty bed. Somehow or other SOMEbody managed to get a couple of men from each FRatERNity to move to every other fraternity. Why, my Dear, it was simply SCREAMing. You never knew WHERE to call to get in touch with a fellow. And IF you did call, you would get some such answer as "THIS is Row DAMit ROW." ACTually they all got names for their clubs. Why let's see—the "NON de Script" club was at the Phi Psi house. Then there was "Tau Iota Tau" at the Phi Delt house. "Row DAMit Row" was the Sig mansion. The fellows at the B. K. place called themselves "Will Roger's Buckaroos." The Football men started the naming fad. They were the "Varsity Club." The Delts finally changed to the "Cos­mopolitan" club, and "Tammany Hall" bought out Alpha Chi Rho.

But ACTually they were not content with this much foolishness. SOME of them even adopted pins and UNIfoms. The Tau Iota Tau's all wore black shirts. And DON'T breathe a word of it to a SOUL but they SAY that Ed. Culver never had his shirt OFF from the day he BOUGHT it till Thanksgiving. Imagine that? Tammany Hall men all wore a little ELEphant for a pin. Isn't that SIMply TOO funNY? The fellows at the SIG house wore SAIIor pants and Yachting caps. They must have THOught that it was in KEEPing with their name. The fellows at the Delta house started out to call THEMselves the "hard-boiled virgins." But the CAMPUSS wouldn't print that name; so they changed to the "COSMopolitan Club." Their PIN was a couple of CHERries dangling from a safety pin. WASn't that AWful! You would think they would have known BETter.

And ACTually, my Dear, all this for the sake of a little MORE school spirit and a BETTER football team. But it was all SO ridiculous. Two or three times a WHOLE swarm of Fascisti or maybe it was a bunch of CARousing sailors came over to Hulings Hall and sang and sang and sang. Oh! REALLY it was so ROMANTIC to be awakened at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning to listen to those roosters CROW.

And FINally as a LAST straw, they began to STEAL each other's signs. The Row DAMit ROW'S had a very ELAborate one; all painted up with PICTures and every­thing. One day the Tau Iota Tau's SWIPed it. The DAMit ROW'S returned the favor by taking the Fascisti's. I never DID find out what because of the Sig sign, but the other was BURNED on the day of the Alfred game. ACTually you know the T. I. T.'s all dashed down out of the stands and mobbed the others. FRANKie Phillips, who was leading cheers, was POSitively BURIed in the mud when the fight was over.

I don't exactly recall the day they all moved BACK, but it was a COUPLE of days before the Alfred game.

When it was all over MOST of the fellows I spoke to said they had had a wonDER­ful time, but everybody was glad when the PLAN was OVER, everybody, except the FRatERNity pledges, because the end of the PLAN was the BEGINning of their SERVI­tude.

Here is a perfectly DARling poem that one of the GIRLS wrote:

The girl of my dreams wears a sister pin
Of all the frats I know.
She wears the black shirt of the T. I. T.'s
And sails with the Rho Damnit Rho's.
She hums her way with the Non-de-Scripts,
And lives at Tammany Hall.
Oh the girl of my dreams ain't the H. B. V. she seems;
She's got "IT", kid, but that isn't all.
The Tiddlewinks Champions of '89

Long will the fame of the great championship tiddlewinks team ring out over Alleghe's campus. That noble band of huskies who under the tutelage of the world's famous tiddler, Hoohycackle Peepoo, won the district championship after upsetting the preseason dope predictions and defeating some of the fastest tiddling teams in the game.

Early in the fall of '89 Peep, as the coach was affectionately called by everyone, had his men under rigid training rules and the winks snapped merrily on the third floor of Reuter as the boys went through their paces. Captain Blowoff showed remarkable form being able to coyly snap the winks into the cup at any angle and using either hand equally well. This latter ability had done him good stead in former years for many a match was won by his changing hands at the critical moment, thereby completely crossing up the opposing tiddlers. Undoubtedly Blowey was the mainstay of Peep's team but he was ably supported by that star right tiddler, Hector Poppentitter. Poppey always came through in the pinches with his peculiar manner of shooting close to his chest and he was a bearcat at snapping the winks in from the free throw line. The position of left tiddler had Peep worried for a while owing to the fact that graduation had taken Herman Windsniffer, that stellar left tiddler, away from him. However, the playing of Ober­ gozzel Whiskeysling made his old heart heat with joy for he knew a real tiddler when he saw one. Gozzy was a wow with the winks and his distance snaps were a treat to see. His one fault was that when the score was close he often knuckled down and over shot the bucket. Later on Pep unearthed another candidate for right tiddle in the person of Hinkydink Hotbottom, a burly Sweede who put enough English on the winks, so that when he overshot the pot they bounced back in.

With this stellar aggregation of wink men Peep started that memorable season of '89. They went through the Crawford County teams like greased lightning through a tin horn until they met Harmonsburg Tech on their table in the old school building.
The Tech boys were a tough aggregation of sodbusters who had tiddled since early childhood and knew all the tricks of the game. They popped the celluloid disks in at random and were way ahead at the half completely baffling the Alleghe snappers.
However during the half, Pep gave the boys a stiff lecture on tiddling technique and a stiffer drink of Listerine so that they went back in the game with their dander up.
Blowey led off with a long snap that lit square in the pot but bounced out. This almost made him break down and weep for the opposing centerflush deftly hoisted his wink so that it landed in the bucket with a dull thud and remained. Poppey stepped up to the table next pushing his wink close against his large chest and prepared for a mighty snap but instead there was a muffled pop and an agonizing cry of pain as the wink sailed to the remotest corner of the room. Poppey had sprained his thumb by getting it tangled in the ponderous watchchain that he always wore and he lay groaning with his head on the table. Peep was almost frantic as they took poor Poppey to the hospital and in desperation he sent Hinky Harbuttom in at right tiddle. This proved to be the winning move of the game for Hinky tiddled with all his might and the English on his shots had the winks hopping back into the cup from all corners of the table.
The Harmonsburg boys were completely demoralized. They snapped wildly and their tiddling was ragged. Just before the bell blew for the end of the game Gozzy shot the winning tally for Alleghe from the free throw line. One of the Tech boys had fouled by shooting out of turn and an extra wink was given to Gozzy to shoot. He stepped to the table nervously biting his lip and Peep perspired freely for he knew Gozzy's fault of knuckling down and overshoating the cup. Gozzy pushed his wink up to the free throw line and adjusted himself to the supreme tiddle of the evening as well as the season. Imagine the Alleghe supporters consternation when Gozzy faltered, knuckled down and snapped a mighty pop that looked like it was headed for the rafters. Peep covered up his face and Blowey fainted outright but fortune smiled on the Alleghe tiddlers that night for the wink in its speedy ascent encountered the chandelier and glanced straight down into the cup winning the district championship for Alleghe. All the team's rooters who had braved huh deep mud roads to Harmonsburg went wild with joy and tore up the seats. Some practical joker even set fire to the old school house, but this was speedily extinguished as there were enough women there with long hose and pumps.

The smiling Blowey who had recovered from his faint received the championship trophy, a beautiful 14 carat malleable cast iron loving cup cleverly engraved with the names of all of the members of the team including the waterboy and assistant wink wiper.

The Fraternity Meeting

It was meeting night at the old New Mew House and the hoys were leisurely gathering in various states of dress and undress. Finally the Grand Archon tripped lightly into the hall over Brother Hodclopper's canal boat which blocked the door way. After he had again assumed a horizontal position he called the meeting to order in spite of Brother Snoozleblossom's loud snores which shook the building. Brother Pushbutton had to be reminded that the fraternity alter was no place for his feet. After which the image of Cleopatra, the New Mew's patron goddess, was unveiled and the chaplain having forgotten his ritual gave an original prayer that he didn't learn at Sunday School.

At this point the sargent-at-arms got his ceremonies mixed and started reciting part of the fraternity funeral ceremony. Loud guffaws and gross animal noises issued from the brothers who were still awake. The Grand Archon made a grab for the gavel only to have it ascend in the air thereby satisfying Brother Mainspring's sense of humor for he was the perpetrator of the joke. Turning to the business of the evening Brother Bentfender asked for the floor and was given the air for his motion that only college dates should be brought into the fraternity house. At this point the secret raps were heard at the door and Brother Pintbottle was admitted. He seemed to be in a very unsettled weather condition and the air reeked with a familiar aromatic odor. He subsided in a corner after thumbing his nose at Brother Godspeed, president of the Y. M. C. A., and the rest of the meeting was a blank for him. Brother Fussbody moved that somebody cut the grass and was appointed a committee of one to do same. Brother Godspeed arose and delivered a fiery oration against all forms of drunkenness among the brothers after which Brother Guzzlegin moved that anyone who didn't pass out at the spring party be fined. Motion passed. Brother Huckinpuck who had been frantically trying to get the Grand Archon's attention was excused for urgent reasons.

Intermission was called while two of the hoys carried Brother Pintbottle to bed and the sargent-at-arms woke the rest of the brothers. Brother Countjack then half heartedly urged the boys to pay up their last year's hills and announced that this month's hill would be out this week at which announcement boos and cries of "grafter" were heard. Brother Hallrusher then moved that the fraternity throw a tea for the Fly Pies following which the brothers tossed and discussed the motion finally deciding that the Fly Pies were the cause of the davenport wearing out and that the tea should be given for the faculty women so that the brothers could do some apple shining.

It was apparent that not enough of the brothers were mentally awake; so it was decided to adjourn. The chorister came in in time to start the closing song in the wrong key and the brothers shouted and droned out the chorus with much gusto.
SEPTMBER-
13. A new class of Freshies go to Cochran and Hulings to dine. Of course they all bounce upon the deceiving sofas at Cochran.
14. Three freshmen younghood show up at Hulings for breakfast. Now, boys, you can't be at the hall all of the time. Freshman Week still going strong.
15. Ye Frosh register and enjoy their last day of freedom. It won't be long now until the Sophs (last year's Freshmen) come marching in shuffling for blood.
16. First Chapel services and the fresh all attend hoping for the best and expecting the worst. At that the Sophs look rather out of place in their newly inherited chairs.
17. Trump, trump, tramp. The boys are arriving in full force. Everybody all agog for joy because they are allowed to attend chapel. Seniors moan in anguish and everything is alright.
18. Moving up (and down) day. Mutiny on the campus as new fraternities unfurl their banners. Tammany Hall, H. B. V., (?) Club, Tau Iota Tau, Rho Dammit Rho, Varsity Club, Non Descripts, Will Rodgers's Buckaroos, etc.
19. Old Bentley's bell peals forth once more and the daily 8:10 drill begins for the one hundred and thirteenth time. The ancient and honorable order of the Greenies appear in their dinks. Very Barry, very! Nothing happens at chapel and the freshies wonder, and wonder, and wonder.
20. Last of the boys move to their new homes. The Tau Tau's appear in black shirts, gaudy suspenders, and uniform neck ties. Next, nobby, and attractive;
21. The Non Descripts pledge. The lucky ones wearing little red buttons. This is the first time.
22. LaBounty throws a smoker for the boys. Everybody gulps and gargles cider, and yet another pep meeting. We walk over Mt. Union to the tune of 32-0.
25. Sophs must have spent a busy evening for the "32" signs appear this morning. Then we hear that Dartmouth won 37-12. Not good—but not bad.
26. Permanent seats assigned in chapel. Juniors, Sophs, and Freshmen leap and cry for joy. Seniors hear who have been appointed for class officers. The H. B. V.'s open up the party season. The college is entertained at the high school by the Girls Glee Club. Very good weather all through the week and then presto—rain and nothing but rain comes.
27. Homecoming day and rain, rain, rain. The Key Clubbers appear in their nifty white hats. Then in the evening a big dinner both at the hall and at the gym. I don't know much about the dinner at the hall, but the feed at the gym was de-lish-o-lous. Then Mendl Jones entertained for a big All College Franchise.
29. Dr. Carl entertains at the organ.

NOVEMBER-
1. The big, bad, bruising Sophs stage a shoe rush for the Freshies who enjoy it hugely.
2. An envied few leave for Dartmouth in everything from horse cars to tandem bicycle.
3. The weather man must have a deep dyed grudge against Allegheny. We get rain, rain, rain, and more rain.
4. Twas a bright sunshiny day and all the freshie girls sally forth wearing gouloshes and carrying umbrellas. Now gals let this be a lesson.
5. The Junior class assembles in chapel and the student senate announces who they have appointed for class officers. The H. B. V.'s open up the party season.
6. Classes to our classes and thence to New Wilmington to see our team triumph over various portions of the campus. They were hastily retrieved by their owners.
7. Another day to sleep, and sleep, and sleep, and sleep.
8. Seniors hear who have been appointed as their class officers. The girls at the last minute tuck away their little lead pipes for another year. Everything and flushing as the pins are handed out. Ah, my dear, I'm SO glad to see it.
9. All the little girlsies appear with their pins and place them on public display for the first time.
10. The frosh are lined up and their faces well blacked and then they are marched up to the water tower where several of the hold um's climb up and erase their name. Then they return with their coats on backwards, and short tails flying in the breezes.
11. An ewed few leave for Dartmouth in everything from horse cars to tandem bicycles. In the evening the Sophs throw a rodeo and round up about thirty minutes before placing them in solitary confinement at the D. T. D. house. Of course the Frosh throw a Headline and escaped.
12. No classes because of the huge Soph-Freshman Field Meet and tie up. The public square in front of the gym is crowded with freshmen but where oh where were the Sophs. Then we hear that Dartmouth won 37-12. Not good—but not bad.
13. Sunday.
14. Short classes. Ye chapel speaker blossoms forth with this phrase, "an alabaster cameo on a background of Belgium marble."
15. The boys start their trek to Pittsburgh. Most go by hummers hack.
16. The remainder of the college leaves.
17. Prof. Lavely tells us to keep our religion.
18. Big "What's wrong with Allegheny" meeting. The pep squad headed by Doc Lee and assisted by Ray Cox, Coach Merritt, and Congressman Miller pep us up.
20. O. D. K. stages its annual tapping spree but no skulls are fractured.
21. The college is entertained at the high school by the Girls Glee Club. Very good girls—very good. Then the boys present their much advertised light opera, Cleopatra. All the parts were well placed and as for Cleo, Gad but she was a beau-tay!

23. Pep meeting. All the senior players receive farewell cheers. All set for the game tomorrow.
24. The gridiron season ends with a 27-0 victory over Alfred. And upon looking back it wasn't such a bad season after all. Big victory dance in the evening.
25. What's this we hear about a flu epidemic. And by the way it is fall party season so beware.
26. Wherein many students take double cuts to go home. Thanksgiving vacation.

DECEMBER—
2. What a rotten and despondent feeling to return after such a short vacation. Any how it won't be long now until Xmas and it's long vacation.
3. Came the flu as the movies would have it.
7. Ye first fall formals.
8. What a whirling dance season it was.
9. The students spend the Sabbath either recovering from the parties or contracting flu.
10. Class attendance falls off greatly and hence each and every student lives in consecutive time. Bert McGill carries off second honors.
11. Belated fall parties are run off and a couple of chapter parties are held to start up the year.
12. At last we hill folks have a bus to carry us downtownward. And also the new Hulings. His name? Tut, tut, Bertha, one can't tell all one knows. Can one?
13. It is rumored that on this day a fellow garbed as a female stalked the halls of the college.
14. The Phi Gam's set a new campus style. Scarlet fever seems to be all the rage now. If only some one in another house could get it, exams might he postponed.
15. It seems that more fall parties are in order. Sigs, Phi Delts, Chi Rhos, and Phi Gams all choose the same evening for their struggle. Hence girls and tuxs conclude their series of talks.
16. Ah, ha. Were on the home stretch now. Only five more days till rest, relaxation, and whoopee.
17. The big house becomes an impromptu hospital. Doc. Gamble sends about five home with the flu and as many more contract it. The other houses look on in great envy.
18. The campus looks like a deserted village.
19. At last Fri's come out with the long awaited announcement that we are dismissed two days early. Merry Christmas!
20. (The above denotes the rapid passing of the vacation days and the spending of beaucoup money by the students.)

JANUARY—
5. Ye College historian returns early and finds the entire Chem II class back for the same purpose.
6. The wheels of education begin to grind once more. And I just recalled that I forgot to mention the fact that we beat Wittenberg Dec. 21. 'Tis a good start.
11. Belated fall parties are run off and a couple of chapter parties are held to start the new year off right.
12. At last we hill folks have a bus to carry us downtownward. And also the B. U.'s nose the Sigs out of the annual indoor track meet by but half a point.
13. It's time to forget the horrors of the exams. The boys are up and on the books these chilly Sunday mornings instead of pounding the pillows per usual.
14. The Fiji's and Sig's have parties and a couple of the sororities initiate.
15. This is just about the time of year that I get disgusted with school.
16. We wallop Geneva to the tune of 30-25. Well, well.
17. Prof. Schultz speaks in chapel. The Phi Psi's roll barrels across the campus.
18. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
19. Sunday and ye Kalendarist attends church. The Junior Hop Committee receives a rude and crude awakening in the form of the tentitive exam schedule appears.
23. Pi Delta Epsilon initiates and treats the hoys to a banquet. Omicron Delta Kappa taps and Bair, Jones, and Wycoff step forward. In the evening the tuxless Junior Prom is held.
24. The Sig freshmen attend church in a body. I suppose that Hell Week is just past.
25. The Alpha Chi Sigma boys banquet at the Kepler.
26. The second Sig freshmen attend church in a body. I suppose that Hell Week is just around the corner.
27. Dr. Lee dismisses a student from class that actually has the nerve to protest.
29. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
30. The Sig freshmen attend church in a body. I suppose that Hell Week is just around the corner.
31. Ye college play production class presents "The Sponge" and let me add folks that it was very good.
32. Dr. Woodring gives a very interesting talk in chapel.
33. I certainly am glad that one month in the year has only twenty-eight days in it as this calendar job is tiresome.

FEBRUARY—
5. Our few days of vacation end, and we pay the college once more for the privilege of cutting classes.
6. Classes once more and chapel. Ye elders grind ceremonies.
7. The Junior Hop Committee receives a rude and crude awakening in the form of the tentitive exam schedule appears.
8. The Phi Delts have a party.
9. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
10. Sunday, Oh Hups.
11. Prof. Schultz speaks in chapel. The Phi Psi's roll barrels across the campus.
13. This is just about the time of year that I get disgusted with school.
14. The Alpha Chi Sigma boys banquet at the Kepler.
15. Mr. Frederick speaks in chapel. Grove City overwhelmed by Allegheny. 40-25.
16. The Phi's and Sig's have parties and a couple of the sororities initiate.
17. Sunday and ye Kalendarist attends church.
18. The German students sing in chapel and incidently unmusie the remainder of the college.
19. Dr. Lee dismisses a student from class that actually has the nerve to protest.
21. The Sig freshmen attend church in a body. I suppose that Hell Week is just around the corner.
22. Ye college play production class presents "The Sponge" and let me add folks that it was very good.
23. Dr. Woodring gives a very interesting talk in chapel.
24. I certainly am glad that one month in the year has only twenty-eight days in it as this calendar job is tiresome.

MARCH—
1. Waynesburg basketball team came to Allegheny like a lion and left like a lamb. Just another story for our book.
2. The last Sig granulat takes place. Then to change the subject a few of the girls get ready for the new semester. And we rather enjoyed that three day vacation between semesters.
3. Everybody spends their time sleeping, whooping, and making resolutions as to what they will do next semester.
4. In case you have forgotten, Hoover was inaugurated.
5. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
7. The Sig freshmen attend church in a body. I suppose that Hell Week is just around the corner.
8. Ye college play production class presents "The Sponge" and let me add folks that it was very good.
9. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
10. The Phi Kappa Psi hoys get industrious and chop up the tree that the blizzard has left. Big victory dance in the evening the debuting team tangles with Hilldale.
11. At last old Mother Nature gives us a nice warm windy spring day. Good by winter, we will be pounding the hooks.
12. The Phi Kappa Psi hoys get industrious and chop up the tree that the blizzard has left. Big victory dance in the evening the debuting team tangles with Hilldale.
13. It doth rain, and rain, and rain.
14. Interclass, basketball games in the afternoon and in the evening the varsity tackles Bethany.
15. Wherein many students take double cuts to go home. Thanksgiving vacation.
16. The Intersorority takes place to the great delight of the favored lads and the distress of those not so favored. Ye Kalenderist readeth a tome entitled "Strange Interlude" to while away the dreary hours.
17. For it's Saint Patrick's day in the mornin'.
19. And on this evening, ladies and gentlemen, the Female basketball team of Allegeny College successfully defeated the Edinboro sextette.
21. Dr. Lee orders that all Chem. manuals are due on March 22nd and consequently Hulings is filled with maidens burning the midnight oil.
22. Cast aside your cares, for lo, it is vacation time.

APRIL—
1. 'Tis All Fool's Day and very appropriately ye scribe cometh back to his scholsatic tasks.
2. Tramp, tramp, tramp the boys are marching—to their eight tens.
5. The ladies of Manna Hulings are honored with an impromptu serenade.
6. The Theta Upsilon's throw a Gob Party at Cochran. Yo Ho! and a package of life savers.
8. The Alpha Chi Sigma youths journey to Erie and tour the Hammermill paper factory.
9. 'Tis a beautiful afternoon and nothing of interest to the college occurs. So ye scribe goeth on a picnic.
10. Dr. Elliot speaks in chapel.
12. All those taking Philosophy V turn in their home quizz after many hours of strenuous work.
13. On this day I took time to get caught up on this blankety blank calendar.
15. Miss Spaulding reads in chapel.
18. The Phi Delta's are beaten in the volley ball finals by the Sigs.
19. The Hammett and McGill great Senior Ball takes place and take it from one who knows that 'twas a goodly party.
20. Chapter parties at the various houses on the hill.
22. The glee club sings in chapel. In the evening the Alpha Chi Sigma boys meet the goat—and a few other things.
24. Founders Day and a huge banquet in the evening. Me for the good old fashioned bounteous meal. After the costume dance and the founding of the college the floor is cleared and ye students dance to the disgraceful hour of one. Mercy above! But if I ever hear an accordion again I will not be responsible for the consequences.
26. The Y. M. and Y. W. makes merry and gives a cabaret dance. Not to speak of all the other attractions. And gentlemen the orchestra wasn't bad, in fact it was very good.
27. Beta Upsilon, as usual, wins the interfraternity track meet.
30. Pi Delta Epsilon elects four to its membership.

MAY—
1. Cherrio, for it is May Day.
3. The girls glee club warbles at chapel.
4. The season is open for spring parties. Alpha Gamma Delta and Beta Upsilon open the season out at the lake.
6. It seems that no arrangements had been made for a chapel program. But what care we.
8. Dick Long speaks in chapel and urges us to attend "Mr. Pim Passes By."
9. Crema day and Dr. Lee dismisses his class so that they can attend the parade.
10. Miss Schaeffle conducts chapel.
17. More Spring Parties.
24. All the girls dance around the May Pole and ye May Queen is crowned. In the evening the college is entertained by an all-college dance. I'm all for more of these Color Days.
27. Brrrr! Exams begin. And how I love to take exams in this spring weather.

JUNE—
6. Ahhhh! All evil things must end sooner or later, and so the exams are at an end.
8. Alumni Day. And how glad they all seem to get back to old Allegheny! Big all college banquet and fraternity banquets.
9. The class of twenty-nine see the beginning of the end. Baccalaureate Day.
10. Class Day. The sorrowing graduates tour the campus for their last look as students. It must be an ungrand and unglorious feeling. And to think that I will be doing it next year.
11. Well it's here. The day that all freshmen look forward to, and all seniors dread finally arrives for the class of twenty-nine. Here's to your success in life. Vale.

FINIS.

Next to her family, a woman loves her home best. She dreams of lovely, rich furniture—beautifully arranged, cozy, comfortable—furniture she’ll be proud of no matter who sees it. Now most women don’t have that—more’s the pity because nearly every one can. Our budget plan will enable you to fulfill her dreams of a lovely home without financial difficulty. Come in and we’ll tell you about it—show you how simple it is to give her the kind of a home she wants—and then—enjoy her pleasure of choosing the furniture she likes.
