My dear Miss Tarbell:

One of the best testimonies, stating in a few words what you have emphasized in your book, was given by Robert Bacon during the Government suit, namely:

"Judge Gary * * has tried his best to inculcate * * that there was a new order of things, that there were new rules of the game in dealing with competitors, as well as in other human relations. * * * The old conditions have changed; the old destructive and ruinous and ruthless warfare of the early days of the iron and steel industry has disappeared, and in its place, by reason of the attitude of Judge Gary more than anyone else, a condition has been produced among competitors in the iron and steel business, and I believe in many other industries, that never before existed."

Considering the importance of this testimony, Judge Gary thinks it would be well for you to make a note of it for incorporating in the event that another edition of the book may be required.

Very truly yours,

Secretary to Judge Gary.
