

Phoebe

United States Steel Corporation.

71 Broadway, New York,

OFFICE OF THE CHAIRMAN

November 28, 1924.

Miss Ida M. Tarbell,
120 East 19th St.,
New York, N.Y.

My dear Miss Tarbell:

Judge Gary tells me that he read with a great deal of interest the manuscript of the first two chapters, which accompanied your letter of November 21st, and I think he was highly pleased with your production. (May I also say that I was delighted with it and found your story absorbingly interesting?) He has suggested a number of very slight changes, which are marked in pencil on the manuscript.

I am sending this note to your house special delivery this morning, thinking that it may perhaps be forwarded to you in the country, but we will hold the manuscript here carefully until we hear from you by telephone, which I suppose will be on Monday, when, according to your letter, you expect to be back in the city. At that time, if you desire, we will send you the manuscript by messenger, or perhaps you would prefer to call at the office.

With kind regards, and hoping that you have had a thoroughly happy Thanksgiving,

Sincerely yours,

Secretary to Judge Gary.