My dear Mrs. Tarbell,

I cannot tell you anything about my father's report on the 1967 exposition. He told me I must not read his papers but we would never get if done for as she is not well.

I have some very interesting things about the U. S. Steel Corporation which would make a sensation if told but I rather think they had better not be published now. I have mailed it out for the family book. I am slowly getting together. We plan the went in 7 days if the business because it had come to the point when he had to put up his own idle plant or close up. To put up his own plant meant 7 - $50,000 at least and we were not prepared to go in on this scale. None of us boys wanted to shoulder the load up top and afraid of it would have feared complications to emerge at all successfully. It was much worse at all. The Argus put all trust in the devil's nest without his knowledge and when he begged not to go an\n\nthe Argus made it a personal matter for a year or so. For certain\nvery definite reasons which I know. I was present at the unveiling and found the whole story. I doubt if it should be published.

Sincerely,

Edward D. \n
