

Woman in Industry

- 1) An introduction, with definitions and a placing of the subject
 - Definition of International Labor Convention accepted for industry
 - Estimate of numbers in these various industries in 1919
 - Ages and conditions
 - Effects of war
 - Social and economic intimations
 - Obligations on part of management
- 2) Analysis of source of supply
- 3) Training of average woman in industry
 - Opportunities for apprenticeship. Learning at the machine
 - Scientific direction
 - Results of experiments during the war with women as machinists
- 4) Conditions--Hours Rest Periods Holidays
- 5) Food and posture
- 6) Stability of women workers Experience
 - of progressive firms keeping records over a period of at least ten years
- 7) Opportunities for advancement and relation to stability
The woman foreman--how developed
- 8) A new profession for women
- 9) Industry and the family
- 10) Extent to which married women are employed in industry
 - Conditions--effect on the home--effect on the child Exploitation and protection The union Labor legislation
 - Public sentiment
- 11) Handicaps to equal opportunity Feminine prejudices
Social prejudices Psychology of women
- 12) Future of woman in industry