A WHITE WOMAN'S BURDEN.
(From the London Chronicle.)

Mr. Grant Ramsey thinks that if dumb animals were forced to carry such burdens as the langes held now afflicted by some ladies, protests would be made in the name of humanity.

Women were even more overburdened in mid-Victorian days.

According to Henrietta Fisher, whose "Costumes in the Nineteenth Century" is written with German thoroughness, "about 1850 a lady of fashion wore a flannel petticoat, an under-petticoat 36 yards wide, a petticoat wadded at the knees and stiffened in the upper part with whalebones, a petticoat with three stiffly starched flounces, two muslin petticoats and then a skirt."

"Adorned with all these were made of light stuff, the weight and discomfort of such a quantity of material was so great that the idea of a steel corset was greeted enthusiastically, and the inventor cleared £50,000 out of it in a fortnight."

War now men's custom pleased all for the money. The men, as they made - the soldier, director openly mimic - the woman mock.
