A WHITE WOMAN'S BURDEN.

Mr. Grant Ramsey thinks that if dumb animals were forced to carry such burdens as the large hats now accepted by some ladies, protests would be made in the name of humanity.

Women were even more overburdened in mid-Victorian days.

According to Ernst Otto Plischke, author of "Costumes in the Nineteenth Century," written with German thoroughness, "about 1850 a lady of fashion wore a flannel petticoat, an under-petticoat 36 yards wide, a petticoat wracked at the knees and stiffened in the upper part with whalebone, a petticoat with three stiffly starched flounces, two muslin petticoats and then a skirt.

"The weight of all these was made of light stuff, the weight and discomfort of such a quantity of material was so great that the idea of a steel corset was greeted enthusiastically, and the inventor cleared £30,000 out of it in a fortnight."

Many of the greatest and most memorable productions may be inspired like this... for instance, war... the huge frame to carry the deck, nil—really of weight—very picturesque.

War was immense excitement... Pleasure in... attitude towards... but make... it's relatively: polish, really risky, the command must... reflect...
