Notebook pages: Fear of Efficiency

Tarbell, Ida M.

http://hdl.handle.net/10456/38490

©Allegheny College. All rights reserved.

All materials in the Allegheny College DSpace Repository are subject to college policies and Title 17 of the U.S. Code.
A continuity in pure danger of becoming will-prepared.

Do many people really appreciate the advantages of being able to think in particular when the advantages of our nation's defence are not.

This means we must move forward.

Barriers have been challenged.

Again, it is not just a war of man and man, but a war of man and nation. I have already seen how much of our nation's defence can be weakened.

How can we demand more when we have allowed ourselves to be divided?

I would like to think we can still come together and act as one nation.
Reason for feeling efficiency
1. Attracted, syphilitic, forgetful
2. Due to readily made decisions
3. May lead to decisions being made only because of pressure or not having a clear mind. Should be more clear and definite decisions are obtained.

4. Reprimand time -
May cause law of twenty laws. First year of experiment.

5. Regular decision.
1. Germany efficiency.

2. Adaptable, Samurai.

3. Do the thing they wouldn't normally do if they knew.

5. The voice of a man who is not a philosopher, not a poet, but a man of action.

The advantage of the automatic system of efficiency is that it can make up for many mistakes. If you have a system where a statement is typed, it is much more equal in the accuracy of the entry. The advantage of the automatic system is that it can handle the data faster and more accurately. The manual system is limited in this regard.
null
The text on the page seems to be a personal note or diary entry. It's difficult to decipher the content without clearer visibility. The handwriting is cursive, and the text appears to be discussing personal thoughts or reflections. It starts with a statement about the inefficiency of human beings and ends with a mention of a person named 'Drew' and the word 'peace.' The content is not entirely legible due to the writing style.
The peace within a multi-religious world has been demonstrated more peacefully than ever before. Men and women, all of the free spirit, that they indeed can be made possible unless made by the free spirit.