

Judge Charles W. Appleton
120 Broadway
New York City

My dear Judge Appleton:

You may or may not know that with the consent of Mr. Young I have undertaken to prepare a sketch of his life. The result will depend no little as you of course understand, upon what his associates are willing to tell me. I know of your long friendship and I have been hoping that you would be willing someday at your leisure to talk with me.

As I am expecting to go to St. Lawrence next Saturday for a few days of looking around I should like very much if it would be possible for you to see me before I go. Could you arrange an hour some afternoon of next week when I could call at your office? I could manage it any day excepting Monday.

I hope, dear Judge Appleton, that I am not asking too much.

Very truly yours
