

March 21, 1932

My dear Miss Diller:

I have been over the manuscript checking up on the pages you marked in your letter.

I prefer, generally speaking, to use as little small type as possible. You will see that I agree in most cases with your markings. I am quite willing to leave the arrangement to you.

As to capital letters - follow the practice of the house. I think you have decidedly improved the punctuation. It is a matter of which I am loose and indolent.

A title has been put on Chapter XIII.

You have for the Appendix a printed copy of the O. D. Y. Fundamental Library which you can use. At least I sent one to Mr. Titterton.

As for the St. Lawrence speech I have asked Miss Chandler of Mr. Young's staff to send you directly a corrected copy ~~sent to you directly~~. The autographed copy I sent to Mr. Titterton I should prefer not to be used by the printer.

I hope everything is straight now to go ahead.

Very sincerely

Miss Elizabeth Diller
Macmillan Company
60 Fifth Avenue
New York City